FINANCE DEPUTY EXAMINED ON DEAL BY DICKMANN CO.

H. Wibbing, Giving
Deposition, Says No Agent Told Him Who Got Lowell Bank Realty.

HEARING ON SUIT TO RECOVER PROFITS

Witness Thinks Payment
Relative in Connection With a Resale "Entirely Too Much."

H. Wibbing, Deputy State Finance Commissioner in charge of administration of the closed Lowell bank, testified today at a deposition hearing that no representative of the Joseph F. Dickmann Real estate Co. ever told him who was purchaser of eight real estate properties the bank sold through the Dickmann firm as agent.
The ostensible purchaser was Mrs. Cecelia Ross, but her name was not mentioned by anyone during the hearing, before Special Commissioner William H. Allen, former chief of the St. Louis Court of Appeals.
Wibbing testified in the suit of the State Finance Commissioner, which alleges that Mrs. Ross, sister of Otto Dickmann, office manager of the Dickmann concern, was a new party and that the Dick-mann company itself was the actual purchaser. The Finance Commissioner sought to recover the $950,000 commission paid by the bank to the Dick-mann firm and a profit, estimated at $100,000, which was realized by resale of the properties.
Wibbing testified that he was not told by anyone that the Dick-mann firm was the purchaser of the properties for $18,000, Wibbing testified that he was told that the properties were sold to the Dick-mann firm at the best price that could be obtained.
Wibbing's reply, the witness said, was: "Absolutely."
Deputy's Assumption.
"I assumed a speculator was buying the properties, that is not true," Wibbing said. "I assumed that the Dickmann firm told him who was the purchaser was."
"Well, property is usually sold to someone not in the name of the estate dealer, is that not true?" asked H. Murray Edwards, attorney for Mrs. Ross and the Dickmann concern. Wibbing's reply was that the real estate business was common in the real estate business.
He developed during Wibbing's testimony that a payment made by the Dickmann firm in connection with resale of one of the eight properties was $125, which, Wibbing said, he thought was "entirely too much."
As has been told, Wibbing's assistant, Thomas Vance, assisted him in a residence at 2014
Chatterfield place, where Mrs.
Charles A. Drennan, who made an advance money deposit to pay $100 for the place last May 24, said she did not obtain the title, however, until late in June, after there had been an intermediate sale of the same property to Mrs. Ross.
Suggestion to Stemmer.
Wibbing said he had suggested that Stemmer, the Dickmann firm's manager, that his father-in-law ought to have something for residing at the Drennan's in the property but never mentioned $125 or any other amount.
"I thought half the commission would be enough," Wibbing said.
Throughout the questioning of Wibbing the attorney for the Dick-mann firm sought to stress that Wibbing had accepted Mrs. Ross' offer of $18,000 for the eight properties because it represented a fair market value of the properties.
Repeated objections to this line of questioning were made by Richard C. Coburn, attorney for the Finance Commissioner, who was present each time by the Special Commissioner presiding at the hearing. Coburn made the point that the suit was based on the law that an agent who buys the property of his principal must "discuss" any profits he may realize from the deal.
Hearing Is Continued.
After Wibbing had testified, the attorney for the Dickmann firm suggested to Coburn that Otto Dickmann be called as the next witness, but Coburn insisted that Wibbing be examined first. Otto Dickmann was present, but Stemmer was not, so the hearing was continued until tomorrow morning.
Otto Dickmann is the vice-president and active head of the real estate business. His brother, Mayor Edward F. Dickmann, is the president of the Real Estate Exchange where he became Mayor.
Wibbing told of accompanying

Millionaire's Son and Fourth Wife

JOHN T. MILLIKEN MARRIED FOURTH TIME

Son of Late St. Louis Millionaire Weds Daughter of Tennessee Preacher.

John T. Milliken, whose three previous marriages ended in divorce, was married July 25 to Miss Katherine Robinson of Cowan, Tenn., it was learned today.
Milliken is the son of the late John T. Milliken Sr., millionaire chemical manufacturer of St. Louis.
His bride, 23 years old, is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. D.
Robinson. They were married at her home and are on a wedding trip in the West. Mrs. Milliken is a graduate of Cumberland University, and attended the New York School of Design. She met Milliken last year at Hollywood, Fla., where he has a winter home. In St. Louis he resides at the Forest Park Hotel.
Milliken's first wife, the former Miss Marion Martin, obtained a divorce in 1927, two years after their marriage, receiving $1000 in gross alimony. In 1929 he married Miss Mildred McCloy of Oakmont, Pa., and she divorced him in 1931, obtaining $10,000 in gross alimony. He dismissed a $500,000 alienation of affections suit against her relatives, and also dismissed a $200,000 alienation suit against Nolen L. Hussey of St. Louis after a settlement in which he was said to have received $5000.
The third Mrs. Milliken, who was the former Mrs. Mildred Drennan, a widow of Springfield, Ill., obtained a divorce in February, 1937, on the ground of mental cruelty.
They were married secretly in 1933 at Chicago, where Milliken, a motorboat racing enthusiast, had gone to attend a regatta. Milliken filed a $100,000 alienation of affections suit against Harold A. Clark of Chicago, but dismissed the action after a settlement, described as "satisfactory."
Milliken's father died in 1919, leaving an estate of a gross value of $10,000,000, which was reduced by debts and taxes to about $3,000, 000. The son and two daughters each receive two-ninths of the income for life and the widow, who lives at the Forest Park Hotel, receives one-third of the income.

R. B. LUCAS GETS POST OF LATE JUDGE FRANK

Benton Lawyer Appointed to State Supreme Bench by Gov. Stark.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 14.—
Raymond B. Lucas of Benton, Scott
County, was appointed by Gov.
Stark today to the unexpired term on the Supreme Court of Missouri of Judge William F. Frank, who died unexpectedly Friday.
The appointment was effective immediately. The oath of office was administered in chambers by Chief Justice Ernest M. Tipton, a classmate of the new Judge at the University of Missouri, and Lucas took his place at once on the bench in Division No. 1. Lucas will serve until Dec. 31, with pay at the rate of $625 a month.
Present when the new member was inducted into the Court were his mother, Mrs. Anna Lucas, and a daughter, Miss Anna Lee Lucas.
His wife and another daughter,
Miss Frances Lucas, were at Tusson, Ariz., where the latter is in school.
Selection of Lucas, a leader in bar affairs and Democratic politician, to fill the vacancy had been suggested by Wayne Ely, St. Louis lawyer, who has been here since Sunday, and by other persons.
Lucas was endorsed for the place
by the bar associations of Scott, Cape Girardeau, Pemiscot and New Madrid counties. He has been chairman of the Scott County Democratic Committee for three terms and a member of the Democratic State Committee two terms. In the recent primary campaign he was an active supporter in Southeast Missouri of Judge Douglas. He backed Russell L. Deamond for Governor in 1932.
He is chairman of the Missouri
State Bar Association's Committee on Expedition of Trials and Appeals and has served several terms on the association's council. Several times he has sat as special Judge in the Circuit Court in Scott and Mississippi counties. He has been attorney for the Home Owners' Loan Corporation and the United States Bureau of Biological Survey in Southeast Missouri. A resident of Scott County for 42 years, he is 43, and has practiced law for 22 years. He was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1913 and studied law at the University of Chicago.
The Republican State Committee yesterday deferred until Sept. 28 the selection of a successor to Judge Frank as nominee for the new 10-year term on the Supreme bench.

GEORGIA VOTING TODAY IN HEATED SENATE CONTEST

Senator George, Criticized by President, Runs Against New Dealer and Ex-Gov. Talmadge.

NEW DEAL ISSUE IN CONGRESS FIGHTS

Representative Cox, Who Fought Wage-Hour Legislation, Is Opposed by Roosevelt Man.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 14.—
Georgians are voting today in a Democratic primary widely regarded as a direct and vital test of President Roosevelt's power to remove from the Democratic party a "too conservative" element.
National interest centered on the senatorial race, where Senator Walter F. George, veteran of 16 years' experience and holder of numerous important committee assignments, is opposed by New Dealer Leavenworth S. Camp and former Gov. Eugene Talmadge.
The first precinct to report complete gave Senator George a slight lead over Camp and Talmadge.
Returns from Smyrna, a village in Cobb County, gave: George 169; Camp 181; Talmadge 77.
Camp, Federal District Attorney
by appointment of the President, received direct endorsement from Mr. Roosevelt several weeks ago in a speech at Barnesville, Ga.
The President at the same time declared George to be a conservative out of touch "with the broad objectives of the party and Government," who does not "speak the same language" of the New Dealers.
Talmadge, Mr. Roosevelt said, would "contribute little to practical government."
A Governor, 10 Congressmen, several without opposition, state and county officials will be designed by today's voting also.
Polls opened at hours fixed by county committees, most of them at 7 a. m. Closing hours were optional, but 2 p. m. was chosen in some precincts and 6 p. m. in others.
George based his campaign largely on his record, a record which Camp attacked because of the senator's opposition to state and county measures as court revision, reorganization and the original wage-hour bill. He also held that George was friendly to "big business" and that he was favored by Republicans.
"Townsend Followed Withdraw."
A fourth candidate for the senatorial nomination, William G. Mc-Rae, withdrew from the race Monday night with the announcement that he would support his supporter, Leavenworth S. Camp, in the Senate race. He had campaigned under the banner of the Townsend pension plan.
In the Governor's race, Gov. E.
D. Rivers is seeking renomination.
He is opposed by Hugh Howell, Atlanta attorney, John J. Man-ham, Bremen business man and farmer, and Robert F. Wood, Athens salesman and prohibition advocate.
New Deal issues figured in several congressional contests, notably in the Second District, where Representative E. E. Cox is opposed by W. J. Crowe, an avowed New Dealer. Cox was a leader of the House fight on the wage-hour legislation.
Representative Emmett M. Owen of the Fourth District is opposed by New Dealer Phillips Moore and Assistant District Attorney Sidney Camp, while Representative Malcolm C. Tarver of the Seventh district has opposition from L. Mitchell Johnson, who said he favored the New Deal.
Ramspeck Has Opposition.
The Fifth District Representative, Robert Ramspeck, is opposed by C. L. Wood, College Park business man. Henry A. Alexander, Atlanta attorney, is running as an independent in the Fifth.
W. C. Lankford, W. Ben Gibbs and the Rev. C. P. Watson seek the seat made vacant by resignation of Representative Braswell Dean of the Eighth District.
Hugh Peterson of the First is opposed by T. J. Edwards.
Representatives Stephen Pace,
Carl Vinson, E. Frank Whelchel and Paul Brown are unopposed.
The county unit system, rather than popular vote, will decide the Senate and gubernatorial races.
The candidate winning the most popular votes in a given county wins all the unit votes of that county. There are 159 counties and 206 unit votes are required for nomination. If none wins that many, a run-off is provided for the two leading candidates.
A registration of approximately 435,000, some 75,000 less than that for the presidential year of 1936, was regarded as indicating a heavy vote.

ATTACK STARTED FROM ACROSS LINE

Other Disorders Reported
From Various Points—Heavy Concentration of Troops in the Martial Law Area.

By the Associated Press.
PRAGUE, Sept. 14.—Fighting between Czechoslovak gendarmes and Sudeten Germans armed with machine guns, rifles and hand grenades at various towns in the Sudeten region near the German frontier today resulted in at least 40 deaths.
Bloody clashes were reported continuing tonight.
The Foreign Office reported that eight gendarmes were killed in a battle with 2000 Sudetens at the frontier town of Schwaderbach, where the Sudetens occupied the Czechoslovak gendarmerie station.
Schwaderbach is a Sudeten village directly across the border from the German town of Sachsenberg.
When the Sudetens started a demonstration, the gendarmerie received orders not to fire, lest shots crossing the border hit Germans and create a still more serious incident.
Dispatches to Prague said the Sudetens began their attack from German territory and finally occupied the gendarmerie station.
Fighting Near Falkenstein.
Sudeten party headquarters in Prague said that fighting which started last night was continuing at Haberspink, near Falkenstein, and that from 10 to 15 Czech gendarmes had been killed in that clash.
Sudeten leaders said their own men had been killed. Nearly 2000 Sudetens joined in the Haberspink battle, in which heavy tanks were used to aid the police.
Sudeten headquarters charged in a statement that the Haberspink clash resulted from "Communist provocation."
Reports of the Schwaderbach clash said the gendarmes, after struggling to control the Sudeten demonstrators, finally replied to their fire.
Other scattered fighting added to the outbreak of disorder.
Police and Sudetens fought in a building at Tauschkau, and there were clashes also at Grotkau and other places in Sudeten-German territory.
Virtual mobilization of Czechoslovak troops in Sudeten territory appeared to be under way.
Thousands of troops were seen being transported by railway trains and by highway to the troubled centers.
Foreign Office spokesmen denied that numerous reservists had been called to duty.
One report said two Czechoslovak troops were killed in a clash at Ko-molau, but there was no immediate confirmation.
Martial law was extended to that district today.
The Foreign Office early this afternoon reported the affair at Schwaderbach was only a Sudeten German demonstration, but later it corrected its report to say that at least eight of the Czech gendarmes were killed and said that the death list probably would be higher.
Telephoned reports to Prague from Haberspink described a two-

FRANCE CONDEMNS ANY RESORT TO FORCE, URGES CONCESSIONS TO SUDETENS

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 14.—An official Foreign Office spokesman said this evening that France was standing on two points in the Czechoslovak crisis.
"One," he said, "is that the French Government condemns any resort to force. Two is that the French Government is ready to envisage all methods to avoid war."
In a brief interpretation of the second point, the spokesman said it probably would mean that France would urge the Prague Government to make "all possible" concessions to the Sudeten Germans.

EUROPE'S WAR SCARE SENDS NEW YORK MARKET DOWN

Heavy Selling With Losses of $1 to $5 or More Follows Early Rise.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—As prices tumbled $1 to $5 or more a share today under heavy selling as a result of the fear of war in Europe.
The price reporting tickers fell as much as six minutes behind dealings.
The nervousness which engulfed traders came with a rush after a fairly active morning business in which there were willing buyers at rising prices of as much as $3 for some of the most active issues.
As the final hour got under way there was a minor lessening of pressure.
Principal commodities, too, after behaving in normal fashion in the morning, were caught up in the war psychology. Wheat and corn in Chicago lost their earlier favor with buyers.

BRITON STRIVING FOR 'PEACEFUL SOLUTION'

He Dramatically Announces Decision as Threat of War Increases Over Sude-tens' Demands on Czechoslovakia.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Sept. 14.—It was officially announced tonight that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain would fly to Germany tomorrow to see Reichsfuhrer Hitler in an effort to assure peace.
Chamberlain dramatically announced he intended to see Hitler and "try to find a peaceful solution to the crisis," which is menacing world peace.
The German Chancellor notified Chamberlain he would "gladly receive" him tomorrow at Berchtesgaden, his retreat in the Bavarian mountains.
"According to a German radio announcement, Chamberlain was expected to arrive at Ober-salsberg, near Berchtesgaden, tomorrow afternoon.
Chamberlain's appeal for an interview was conveyed to Hitler through Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador to Berlin.
The Prime Minister will take a plane at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow, it was announced.
Message to Hitler.
He sent this message to Hitler:
"In view of the increasingly critical situation I propose to come over at once to see you with a view of trying to find a peaceful solution.
"I propose to come across by air and am ready to start tomorrow.
Please indicate the earliest time at which you can see me and suggest the place of meeting."
Hitler quickly replied he would see the British leader at Berchtesgaden tomorrow.
Chamberlain will be accompanied by Sir Horace Wilson and William Strang of the Foreign Office.
His plane is expected to reach Munich about 1 p. m. (6 a. m. St.
Louis time). There is to be a short halt there and the plane then will proceed to Berchtesgaden for the conference.
Unprecedented Move.
Chamberlain's startling move was decided on at an emergency full meeting of the Cabinet earlier in the day, but it was not until shortly after 9 p. m. (2 p. m., St. Louis time), that announcement came from 10 Downing street, the Prime Minister's office.
It was a decision without precedent on the part of any world statesman—taken in the face of an unprecedented situation, the threat of war over the Sudeten German issue in Czechoslovakia.
The flight will be Chamberlain's first recorded trip in an airplane.
The decision was made in the face of a sanguinary civil conflict in Czechoslovakia and against the background of Hitler's speech of

FRANCE REPORTED READY TO JOIN BRITAIN IN ASKING FOR PLEBISCITE

DALADIER AND BLUM CONFER AFTER SIGNS OF CABINET SPLIT

National Union Government Reported Under Consideration — Broadcast to Nation Canceled Without Notice.

'PEACE AT ANY PRICE' SENTIMENT IN PRESS

Czech Envoy Informs Foreign Minister Prague Regards Situation as Serious — Paris and London in Close Contact.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—Diplomatic sources believed today France would prepare to go with the British to the extent of pressing Czechoslovakia to grant demands for a plebiscite in which Sudeten Germans could vote on union with Germany.

Paris newspapers this morning were almost unanimous in urging the French Government to find a "peace at any price" solution to the situation in Czechoslovakia. In France the Government often uses the press to prepare the public for developments in its policies.

Adding to the uncertainty of the situation was the report in usually informed quarters that the French Cabinet was undecided whether to make a stand against German expansion in Central Europe or go to almost any lengths to preserve peace.

Disension in Cabinet Reported.

Confusion over a projected early morning broadcast to the nation was said by these sources to be caused by differences of opinion among Cabinet Ministers.

Shortly after midnight it was announced Premier Edouard Daladier would address the nation at the unusual hour of 12:30 a. m. A few minutes later the announcement was canceled and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet was substituted as speaker. The scheduled hour passed with the Government-owned station killing time by playing phonograph records. Suddenly the station signed off for the night. Then it was said there would be no speech.

Shortly before the first announcement of the radio address, Stefan Ousky, Czechoslovak Minister to Paris, called on Bonnet to inform him the Czechoslovak Government considered the situation very serious.

Grave View Taken.

A grave view was taken of the situation, despite the clamor of the press for a peaceful solution. Reports from Prague, Berlin, London and other capitals were studied closely for any turn in the situation.

Premier Daladier spent the day at the Ministry of War. He conferred with Leon Blum, Socialist leader, this afternoon on what was reported to be a plan for possible formation of a national union government, representing all political parties.

Closest contact was being kept with London and views were exchanged at frequent intervals by telephone.

The Paris Legation, Prague's principal diplomatic outpost, has been in constant contact with its Government. So serious was the situation that only official telephone calls were allowed to Prague. Operators told other callers there would be a delay of at least five hours.

Daladier's Comment.

French officials showed they considered the grave new situation was created by Adolf Hitler's demands that the Sudeten Germans be given the right of self-determination, although Daladier's last words before going to bed early today were, "things seem to be arranging themselves."

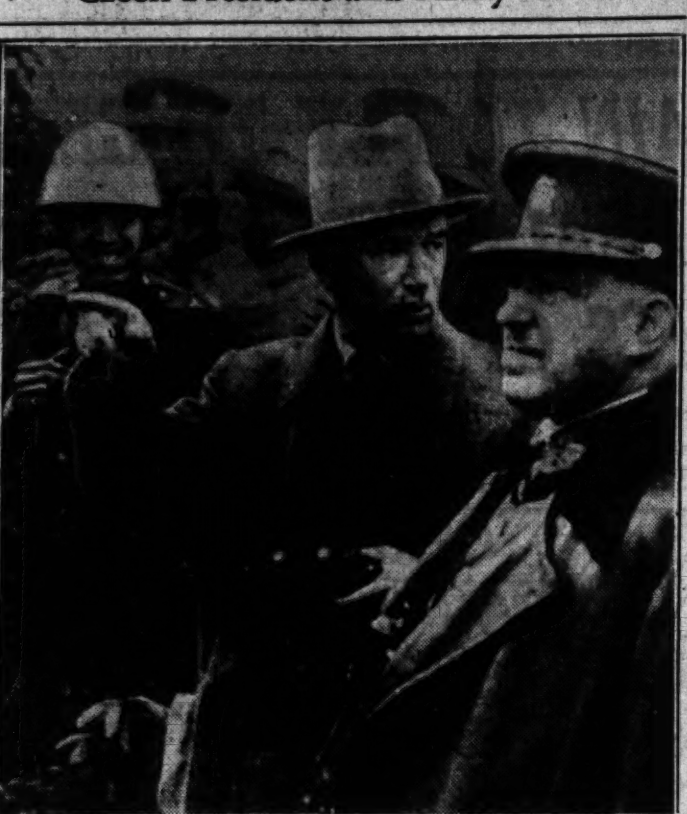

Bonnet received a first-hand report on Prague developments from Ousky. Ousky talked to Milan Hodza, the Czechoslovak Premier, by telephone shortly before 1 a. m. He said the Premier advised him: "Go to bed, as I intend to do."

The danger of air raids was brought close home to Parisians by arrangements to distribute boxes of sand to all buildings to be used in putting out fires started by incendiary bombs. All public meetings on "the foreign situation" were prohibited.

Newspaper Comment.

Le Matin headed the list of newspapers urging a peaceful settlement of the crisis with a frank statement that France could not refuse to allow a plebiscite in Czechoslovakia.

Czech President and Army Chief

EDUARD BENES, head of the Republic, and GEN. C. I. KREJCI, chief of the general staff, during recent army maneuvers near Prague.

French and British police in Sudetenland—the usual forerunner of a plebiscite.

The other extreme Nationalist newspaper L'Ordre declared, "one possibility still remains: international police."

Le Journal declared: "Peace must be saved at all costs." Le Petit Parisien declared the conflict between the Czechs and Sudetens must be avoided at any price.

During the morning Foreign Minister Bonnet conferred with Sir Eric Philips, British Ambassador, and William C. Bullitt, American Ambassador.

A police drive against suspicious foreigners resulted in 300 persons being taken into custody for questioning, in a series of raids.

Authorities arranging for distribution of sand to be used in the event of air raids announced that each building in Paris and the suburbs would be given one-fourth of a cubic meter (about 4 1/2 cubic feet), the quantity judged sufficient.

Proprietors of buildings were required to provide pails and shovels "to facilitate use of the sand."

reinforcing soldiers and civil authorities in Sudeten districts.

Soldiers in automobiles patrolled highways leading to the Sudeten German cities. Many residents left their homes there and fled to Prague.

Agitation for Plebiscite.

Reports persisted that Henlein himself might present a demand for a plebiscite to the Government as widespread agitation for such action continued in Sudeten German territory.

The Government took no official notice of the situation and gave a clear indication that while the demands would be considered if presented in Prague there was no intention at present of revoking martial law.

Czechs generally admitted the gravity of the situation and foresaw a continuing threat to peace.

The roop concentration in Sudeten towns was said to be "considerable." Travelers on western and northern highways saw many truckloads of soldiers.

Cabinet Adjourns Late.

The Cabinet met through the night and until early this morning to consider the demands of Henlein, scholarly-appearing former athletic instructor who leads the Sudetens in their campaign for independence in self-government, with the endorsement of Chancellor Hitler of Germany.

There was no communique after adjournment, but the Government attitude was said by reliable informants to be "firmly resolved."

The Sudetens had allowed six hours for the granting of their demands, but the time limit was considered to have expired at 1:30 a. m., after which the Sudeten party leaders said they would "decline all responsibility for all future developments."

Swastika Displayed.

The continuing display of the swastika, flag of Nazi Germany, was coupled with more disturbances in the Sudeten areas and increasing clamor for a plebiscite, by which the 3,500,000 Sudetens, subjects of the Austro-Hungarian Empire before the World War, would decide whether they should be annexed by Germany.

Signs "To Palestine" were displayed at Karlovy Vary, Jewish shops there were closed, and troops patrolled highways leading into the town from Prague.

Extraordinary police precautions were evident throughout the country. Public meetings of all kinds were prohibited. Many persons were said to be fleeing from the Sudeten German regions.

A fleet of Czechoslovakian army tanks was established at Eger, where the Nazi swastika was raised over the city hall Monday night as the Sudetens celebrated Hitler's speech, in which he promised aid if need to assure the Sudetens their rights.

Deputy Wenzel Jakes, leader of the German Social Democrats Workers' party, which holds 12 of the 400 seats in Parliament, appealed to the Sudetens. He warned that they faced a historic decision with "the life or death of our people at issue."

The German-speaking minority could establish its equality in government without war, he said, and urged that all work for settlement of the minorities issue in a peaceful way.

Czechs Reported Calm.

Informed Czechs said they expected to be able to control any trouble bordering on civil war, even if a further break with the minority leaders resulted in more serious fighting.

The Czech people maintained a calm and peaceful attitude, and that Government troops would have little difficulty in dealing with the Sudetens alone.

The critical situation developed suddenly with the Government's proclamation of military rule in the eight Sudeten strongholds yesterday morning.

Parades were forbidden. An emergency court was empowered to impose death by hanging within two hours after sentence of disturbers of the peace.

Fights developed at Ausig, Graslitz, Kaaden and in other communities. A Government source said seven of the dead were Czechs, five Sudetens.

Sudetens party chiefs met at Eger and drafted the ultimatum to Premier Hodza.

Sudetens headquarters in Prague were guarded by party men, and only persons with credentials were admitted. A rapid output of communiques called on members to stand fast.

"There has been no formal notice that discussions have ceased," said Oscar Ullrich, propaganda chief, "but there can be no conversations in this atmosphere."

Last night crowds filled the streets of Prague awaiting the expiration of the ultimatum.

Two Sudeten newspapers, Die Zeit and Rundschau, announced suspension of publication. A Sudeten press service also suspended.

The editors said that "this step is taken in view of the fact that objective reporting of events in Czechoslovakia no longer is possible."

GOERING REPORTED BETTER

Recovering from illness at Hunting Lodge Near Berlin.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Hitler's chief aid, was reported by his adjutant today to be "recovering nicely" at his hunting lodge near Berlin. The adjutant said he would be back to work in a few days.

Goering became ill suddenly at Nurnberg Sept. 11 when attending the tenth annual congress of the Nazi party. He is suffering from catarrh and inflammation of the right leg.

HITLER SUMMONS VON RIBBENTROP TO HIM AT MUNICH

Fuehrer and Foreign Secretary Consider What They Call 'New Situation' in Czechoslovakia.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler called Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop today to meet him at Munich to discuss what Germany might do in what the Nazis call the "new situation" in Czechoslovakia.

Germans generally expected Hitler to make some move, if only to make a public statement, in view of his defiant warning to Czechoslovakia in Monday night's speech at Nurnberg that he would protect the Sudeten Germans.

The Government thus far has maintained complete silence on new disorders in the Sudeten area and the Prague Government's emergency measures to suppress them.

Goebbels Informs the Press.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels considered the situation so serious that he departed from custom and personally gave his views to Berlin's chief editorial writers and correspondents of provincial newspapers at the morning press conference.

While the Nazi press rallied at Czechoslovakia for imposing martial law in Sudeten German towns, declaring that "Europe is under the stamp of terror."

The official German news agency DNB, quoted "informed quarters" as denying foreign reports of a "partial German mobilization."

Hitler's own newspaper, Volkischer Beobachter, carried detailed accounts of the disorders in Czechoslovakia under the headline: "Shooting, outrages, murder, martial law."

"No one can imagine that Sudeten Germans are inclined to remain in such a state," the Nazi press declared.

The Berliner Boersen Zeitung declared, for example: "With lively acclaim of a friendly press of Western democracies, the Czechs maintained time and again they were in position to guarantee order and peace in the land. In what a state Czech order and peace really is—that is demonstrated by the latest bloody incidents."

Solid pages were devoted to stories of the Sudeten deaths yesterday, with headlines like these: "Alien police, military with armored cars rage against German population."

"Increasing Czech terror."

"New horrible wave of bloody terror."

"Gendarmes volleys upon peaceful assemblies."

The papers contended resolutely that the real cause of the disorders was the "appeal to Czechoslovakia would be worthless."

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's National Zeitung declared that European statesmen would have to decide within the next few days whether denial of the right of self-determination to the Sudetens was worth fighting for.

"Up to Europe's Statesmen."

"For four years the best blood of all nations flowed on European battlefields so that man's most primitive right of self-determination should be granted," the paper said.

"Will today anybody take to arms to deny this right to 3,500,000 people? This question will have to be answered within the next few days by the statesmen of Europe. The fate of their nations will depend on this answer."

"It is an infamous lie and incitation to war to call the severe crisis of these days a result of Nazi chauvinism, and to call for a crusade against Fascist states for their alleged threatening of the world."

proposals made by the Czechoslovak Government.

London was full of rumors of new German troop concentrations on the frontier.

There was no adverse criticism here to the Czechoslovak Government's declaration of martial law and other defense measures yesterday in the Sudeten district.

Chamberlain to Fly to See Hitler

last Monday night at Nurnberg, in which he demanded "self-determination" for the Sudeten Germans.

Apparently all the British Government's efforts to bring the Sudeten Germans and the Czechs together to settle peacefully the Sudeten demands for self rule had failed.

More than 1,000,000 armed men stood ready with Germany's borders, perhaps for a march to the aid of the Sudetens.

Faced with this situation, Chamberlain made his decision to meet Hitler man to man and tell him he can not march without involving Europe in war.

Broadcast to Germans.

The German people were quickly told the news of Chamberlain's projected visit.

The information was broadcast over all German stations at almost the same time it was announced in London. Programs were broken in to relay the bulletin.

In England the Press Association—semiofficial in such matters—followed the news with the comment:

"It would be a tragedy indeed if so brave an effort were to fail... but it is felt the Prime Minister's magnificent gesture and Herr Hitler's ready acceptance and willingness to discuss the immense problem are both auguries for the highest hopes."

Except for a cordon of police, the street at No. 10 Downing was deserted when the announcement was made, but nearly 1000 people were waiting at nearby Whitehall and saw newspaper men running to nearby telephone kiosks with the information.

The curious throngs swarmed about the house seeking a hint of what had happened.

When they knew, they raised up roars of cheers and shouts of "good old Chamberlain!"

King George prepared to return to London from Balmoral, Scotland, tonight because of the international crisis.

An official announcement from Buckingham Palace said: "The King, who was proposing to travel south on Thursday night for the funeral of H. R. H. Prince Arthur of Connaught, has decided to proceed to London tonight to have the first time for discussion on the international situation with his ministers."

This further emphasized the gravity of the problems facing the Cabinet session, which was attended by all but one minister, Lord Stanley, Secretary for Dominions, who is in Canada on an unofficial visit.

Downing street was cleared of crowds as the ministers went into the Prime Minister Chamberlain's official residence.

Kennedy Sees Chamberlain.

Joseph P. Kennedy, United States Ambassador, went to 10 Downing street during the session, waited 20 minutes for it to end, then conferred with the Prime Minister for 10 minutes immediately after the Ministers left.

Naval and military attaches of the French Embassy here are said to have spent many hours with the chiefs of the War Office and Admiralty in the last few days.

Through them the French high command kept in close touch with British military chiefs.

Premier Chamberlain, and possibly other Ministers, probably will have audiences with the monarch soon after his arrival.

The feeling prevailed in many circles that Adolf Hitler does not want a peaceful settlement of the Sudeten problem on the basis of

SUDETEN PRONOUNCED SOO-DAY-TEN, ACCENT ON SECOND SYLLABLE

SUDETEN (pronounced Soo-day-ten, accent second syllable) is the German name for the mountain range on the borders of German Silesia and the Czechoslovak provinces of Bohemia and Moravia.

This range is otherwise known as the Sudetes, or the Sudetic Mountains.

The Sudeten region proper is only a part of the Bohemian border territory inhabited largely by Germans.

In the present controversy, the name "Sudeten Germans" has been made to include those living in regions south and west of the Sudetic range. The towns of Eger, a center of Nazi agitation, and Asch, home of the Nazi leader Konrad Henlein, are near the range known as the Erzgebirge, a western extension of the Sudetes.

The applying of the term "Sudeten" to the inhabitants of these border districts is controversial. Before the World War, the territory separated from Germany by the Sudetes, Erzgebirge and other border mountains was part of the Austro-Hungarian province of Bohemia. It was not a part of Germany.

Shouting young men and girls, wearing red rosettes, distributed "Stop Hitler" pamphlets and invited onlookers to join in a march on the German Embassy.

Four of the leaders who wanted to present demands to Chamberlain were permitted to enter the Prime Minister's residence and deliver a letter.

Surging to Trafalgar Square, the crowd moved around the great black lions flanking Nelson's monument chanting "Stop Hitler," and "Stand for Peace."

Letter to German Embassy.

Mounted police cantered beside them. At Trafalgar other police barred their way to the Mall, forestalling attempts to reach the German Embassy by way of the Duke of York's steps.

Some demonstrators then marched to Leicester Square behind a drum and bugle corps.

Demonstrators found all routes to the German Embassy blocked by police, but persuaded authorities to permit a two-man delegation to hand a letter to the embassy doorman.

It declared "the limit of democracy's patience has been reached."

Raid Precaution Demonstrated.

On Albert embankment, thousands watched regular and reserve fire brigades demonstrate air raid precautions and methods of pumping water from the Thames into great canvas dams on the shore.

This method is to be used if water mains are burst by bombs.

Jan Masaryk, whose father helped found the Czechoslovak republic, is now Minister to London. He sat by his open telephone to Prague last night and finally relented, in a talk with Premier Milan Hodza, that the Sudeten Germans had broken off peace negotiations in protest against martial law.

The Ministers authorized a statement at midnight that the defense chiefs and Ministers had met to "consider precautionary measures that might be advisable in view of the troubled state of Europe."

Attending the consultations were Viscount Gort, chief of the Army General Staff; Admiral Sir Roger Backhouse, First Sea Lord; and chief of the Naval Staff; War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha; Alfred Duff Cooper, First Lord of the Admiralty; Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood; Defense Co-ordination Minister Sir Thomas Inskip, and the inner cabinet—Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax, Home Minister Sir Samuel Hoare and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon.

The meeting of the entire British Cabinet today was the second extraordinary meeting in three days.

hour pistol fight between Sudeten Germans and Czechoslovakian police around the village station and postoffice yesterday.

The reports said four gendarmes and two Sudeten Germans were killed. This morning troops occupied the town.

Prague officials had only reports of the fight, but it was reported the Sudetens occupied postoffice, then overpowered the police and took the police station.

A full detachment of gendarmes stormed the station but was repulsed with a loss of three men. A larger force finally gained the town and was not before another officer was killed.

Infantry patrolled the streets this morning and tanks stood in the town square.

German Agency Reports 13 Killed in Fight.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—A DNB official German news agency report today that the Sudeten German party reported 13 Sudeten Germans killed yesterday by "State police, customs and Treasury guards and Communists."

The dispatch said four Czechs also had been killed. Among the two fatalities were several members of the Sudeten vigilance service.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 14.—Twenty-two Arabs were killed in a fight with British soldiers between Bethlehem and Hebron last night and 10 were killed today when a land mine exploded under a bus on the northern frontier road.

MICHIGAN G. O. P. PICKS FITZGERALD FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Former Executive Defeats
Ex-Justice of Supreme Court in Primary—Will Run Against Murphy.

THINKS RADICALISM
'IS ON WAY OUT'

Senator Bone of Washington Renominated by Democrats Over Advocate of Townsend Plan.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Sept. 14.—Returns from 3408 of 3546 precincts for the Republican nomination for Governor in Tuesday's primary gave: Frank D. Fitzgerald, 398,358; Harry S. Toy, 201,145; Roscoe Conkling Fitch, 38,184.

Toy lives in Detroit and was formerly a Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, and State Attorney-General.

Toy conceded his defeat and sent his congratulations to Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald will run against Gov. Frank Murphy in November. Murphy was unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Fitzgerald, 53 years old, was Governor in 1925-26 and has been in Michigan public life for 25 years. He sought re-election at the end of his first term, but was defeated by Murphy. He was born in the small town of Grand Lodge and still resides there.

The labor question received much attention in the primary. Fitzgerald campaigned as a middle-of-the-road candidate. "I belong neither to the shoot-'em-down clan nor to the wobbly left," he said. "I am confident that Tuesday's primary was the forerunner of another and greater victory in November, and that radicalism is on the way out in Michigan."

Michigan's nine Republican and eight Democratic Congressmen all sought renomination. Three Republicans and two Democrats were unopposed. Outstate Incumbents were victorious in every case. In Wayne County, where returns were slow, the result was not immediately evident. Carl E. Mapes, Grand Rapids, who has represented the Fifth Michigan District since 1915, won by a landslide.

New Hampshire Governor Has Lead for Renomination.

By the Associated Press.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 14.—Gov. Francis P. Murphy today celebrated victory over Attorney-General Thomas P. Cheney for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Complete unofficial returns gave: Francis P. Murphy 43,125; Thomas P. Cheney, 37,235.

Complete unofficial returns in the Republican senatorial primary gave: Charles W. Tobey, 44,844; Eliot A. Carter, 26,396; Joseph Moore, 2043.

Barring reversals, the State's first Congressional District will see another November election fight between Representative Alphonse Roy (Dem.) and Arthur B. Jenks (Rep.). Jenks first was declared winner in the 1936 election, but the House voted to seat Roy near the end of the last congressional session.

Both 1 d in their respective primaries yesterday.

In the Second Congressional District, Foster Stearns, son of Frank Stearns, White House adviser to Calvin Coolidge, defeated Thomas Laite by less than 400 votes in complete unofficial tabulations of a nine-man race for the Republican nomination. The Democratic candidate, Alvin A. Lucier of Muskegon, was unopposed.

Vermont Republicans Renominate Governor and U. S. Senator.

By the Associated Press.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 14.—Vermont Republicans, adhering to the tradition of not defeating incumbents, renominated Gov. George D. Aiken, United States Senator Ernest W. Gibson, and Representative Charles F. Plumley in yesterday's primary.

The Democratic organization named its slate without a contest. Opposing Aiken, Gibson and Plumley, respectively, in November, will be veteran Democratic leader Fred C. Martin, John McGrath and James P. Leahy.

Gov. Aiken, who has criticized the national Republican organization, swamped Elisha Goodsell, 65-year-old ferryboat operator. The Governor had more than 33,000 majority.

Senator Gibson likewise ran so far ahead of Martin S. Vilas, Burlington attorney, that the result was in little doubt after the early returns.

The sharpest campaigning was by Plumley and Jack Crowley, a former national vice commander of the American Legion, but Plumley ran away from Crowley as tabulation progressed.

Washington Democrats Renominate Senator Bone Over Townsend.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 14.—A topheavy majority over a Townsendite candidate gave United States Senator Homer T. Bone the Democratic senatorial renomination in Washington's primary yesterday. The State's six Democratic Congressmen apparently were renominated.

Bone overwhelmed Otto A. Case, former state treasurer and pension advocate, returns from 1162 of the State's 2961 precincts gave Case 17,583 to 84,049 for Bone. Bone's opponent in the November election apparently will be Irving D. Colvin, Seattle attorney, who got 38,557 votes in the same precincts to 4338 for Howard E. Foster and 6332 for Frank Goodwin.

Two Congressmen in Louisiana Who Were Opposed Win.

By the Associated Press.

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 14.—Unofficial returns from Tuesday's Democratic primary indicated two of the three Louisiana Congressmen who were opposed for renomination had won. The third entered a run-off with a State Representative who is backed by Lieutenant Governor Earl K. Long, brother of the late United States Senator Huey P. Long.

Voters in the Sixth District gave a big margin for Representative J. K. Griffith, physician who had the active support of Gov. Richard W. Leche. The race was marked by the shooting of James Morrison, one of the candidates, after a political rally. Morrison charged he was shot by a man who jumped on his car and fired three times. One bullet took effect in his arm. Gov. Leche and Griffith said the shooting was "staged as a cheap publicity stunt."

In the Fifth District Newt V. Mills of Monroe, the incumbent, was leading four opponents on returns from 237 of the 252 boxes but his margin was not enough to keep him from entering a run-off with State Representative W. Harvey Todd of Bastrop.

Representative T. Overton Brooks of Shreveport apparently won renomination easily in the Fourth District.

United States Senator John H. Overton was renominated without opposition.

Senator Hayden Beats Two Opponents in Arizona.

By the Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 14.—United States Senator Carl Hayden (Dem.), seeking renomination, ran away from two opponents in the primary yesterday.

Returns from 75 complete precincts and 165 incomplete of 433, gave Hayden, 18,180; Robert E. Miller, Phoenix druggist, 4979; Dr. Coit I. Hughes, State Superintendent of Public Health, 4230.

Eurt. J. Cinglan, Phoenix attorney, was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

FAMILY OF 6 STRANDED IN SEARCH FOR FATHER

Woman and Children Spend Night at Clayton Courthouse; Came 150 Miles.

Mrs. Georgia Wade and her five children, the youngest 4 years old and the oldest 12, stranded in their search for Mrs. Wade's husband, spent last night in the Courthouse at Clayton.

Mrs. Wade, 29 years old, told Sheriff's deputies she and the children had hitch-hiked 150 miles from their home in New Hamburg, Mo., in search of Robert Wade, a painter, she said her husband had gone to St. Louis earlier looking for employment.

She said she had heard from her husband and knew that he was working somewhere in St. Louis County. Thinking she might be able to find employment for herself, she decided to make the trip without waiting to learn Wade's address. The family was turned over to a social worker for the St. Louis County Social Security Commission.

The six travelers were picked up, penniless and unable to go any farther, at Manchester and Denny roads, and taken to the Courthouse. The deputies are looking for Wade.

The children are Sue, 4; Priscilla, 6; Bobby, 9; Bezie, 10, and June, 12.

U. S. JUDGE SENTENCES 18 WHO PLEAD GUILTY

Youth Gets Four Years for Aid to Theft and Escape From City Jail.

Seventeen men and a woman were sentenced to terms ranging from one day to four years by United States District Judge Charles B. Davis today on their pleas of guilty to charges on which they were recently indicted by the grand jury.

The Court departed from customary practice by appointing counsel for defendants who appeared without lawyers and told Judge Davis they desired legal advice before entering a plea. Judge Davis explained that he took the action because of criticism that guilty pleas had been accepted in the past from accused persons, who did not have the benefit of legal advice.

Charles G. Watson, 19 years old, a participant in an escape from the City Jail on Aug. 28, received the heaviest sentence, four years, for violation of the Dyer Act and breaking jail. He was advised by Forest Donnell, appointed by the Court. Watson, an army deserter, drove a stolen car from Salt Lake City, Utah, to New York City and then to St. Louis.

He said he intended to pay $95 for the machine, a used car, and added that he was forced to take part in the jail break by two other Federal prisoners, whom he feared.

The place of incarceration of Watson and others sentenced to penitentiary terms will be designated by the Attorney-General.

Narcotics Sellers Sentenced.

Clarence J. Jernberg, a newspaper stereotype, and his wife, Lilian, were each sentenced to three years in prison for selling narcotics. Drug addicts, they were charged with selling narcotics to a policeman.

Frank Oelflein, who told the Court that he wanted to be cured of the drug habit, was sentenced to three years in prison. Judge Davis, in giving light terms to others similarly charged, described as "hopeless" the task of curing drug addicts who had no desire to be rid of the habit.

Ernest Bleedlove and Jack Allen were each sentenced to remain in the custody of the Marshal for a day on their pleas to charges of forging indorsements on Government checks. Bleedlove cashed a $9.50 W. P. A. check he found on the street, and said he used the money to buy a brace for his injured wife. Allen cashed a $2 postal money order and bought food for his family, and subsequently made restitution. He has been in jail two months.

Other sentences were as follows: Charles Jones, Dyer Act, a year and a day; Marie Farmer, who impersonated a Federal officer four days after his release from the Federal Reformatory at El Reno, Ok., last month, 18 months; Frank Weber, nationally known pickpocket, possession of narcotics, 60 days in jail; Joseph Giacalone, possession of narcotics, two years and $100 fine; Herman Fox, Dyer Act, a year and a day; Hugh Manness, Dyer Act, 60 days in jail; Robert M. Elders, two indictments Dyer Act, two years; Wilbur Oil, Negro ex-convict, possession of narcotics, 60 days in jail; James E. Robinson Jr., Negro, theft of mail, a year and a day; James A. Howard, Negro, forgery of a $25 stolen postal money order, two years; Leon Polk, Negro drug addict, forging narcotic prescription, three years; Ernest Ingram, Negro, possession of untaxed alcohol, six months.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 96 ON MAIL FRAUD COUNT

Cents Worth of Cosmetics Represented as $4 Value and Sold for $2, Prosecutor Alleges.

Associated Press.
DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 14.—Ninety-six persons connected with cosmetic firms were indicted yesterday by the Federal grand jury on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with a coupon campaign.

The indictments were included in 96 true bills returned by the grand jury at its September term. More than 180 persons were named in the bills.

The companies were Lorelei Cosmetics and T. K. Reynolds Co., both of Parkersburg, Ill., and the Perfume Co. and Jean Lowe Co., both of O'Fallon, Ill.

United States District Attorney Arthur Roe said records of the indictments seized by Federal marshals in the two cities showed the campaign had victimized several thousand persons in 28 states. He withheld the names of 89 persons indicted in the investigation. Those named by Roe as indicted were:

T. K. Reynolds, Kathleen Reynolds and Roger Warford, Parkersburg, Ill.; Roy Thomason, Grace Thomason, Roy Gillespie and Mrs. E. Bennett, O'Fallon, Ill.

Roe said the persons indicted engaged local solicitors to sell housewares coupons for 50 cents each. The housewives were told to send the coupon and $1.50 to the respective companies for $4 worth of cosmetics, Roe said. The District Attorney said investigators found the cosmetics sent the buyers were worth but 50 cents.

Warford, Thomason and Gillespie are in custody, Roe said.

Judge at East St. Louis Gives Them 60 Days to Meet Judgment.
An interlocutory decree denying the liability of 88 stockholders in the old St. Louis Joint Land Bank at $110,000 or full value of their stock was handed down by United States District Judge Fred L. Wham in East St. Louis yesterday. The defendants were given 60 days in which to meet the judgment.

Hearings will continue in Judge Wham's court to determine the liability of 37 other Illinois defendants in the suit brought by a bondholder committee. In an opinion last week, Judge Wham held that stockholders of the bank, in receivership since 1932, were liable for the full value of their shares.

The judge found the bank's liabilities to be in excess of $15,000,000 and said the assets would not exceed $8,000,000. The Illinois defendants held shares with a par value of $275,000.

Movie Operator Kills Man In Booth as Show Goes On

Two Fight With Reel Can and Fire Extinguisher as Machine Throws 'Devil's Party' on Screen.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—While 500 persons sat in the Queens Theater in Queens Village, watching a movie melodrama yesterday afternoon, the motion picture operator and his former assistant, armed with an aluminum reel can and a small fire extinguisher, had a 20-minute fight in the projection room that ended in the former assistant's death.

The man killed was Nathan Klein, 33 years old, of Manhattan. His death was attributed to a fracture of the skull. The operator, Solomon Schulman, 38 years old, Brooklyn, suffered severe lacerations of the scalp.

Klein's body fell against the projection room door, and with Schulman lying semiconscious on the floor the picture, "The Devil's Party," continued to its conclusion. The news reel was being flashed on the screen before an emptied house by the time a policeman mounted a ladder and entered the room through a window.

Both Schulman and Klein were members of the Empire State Motion Picture Operators' Union, an independent organization. Klein had not had a steady job for more than a year. Yesterday he visited the projection room and asked whether Schulman could help him find a job.

Schulman suggested that Klein try a theater in Franklin Square. L. I. Klein departed, only to return later, enraged that he had not found work. Schulman told police that Klein accused him of having sent Klein on a wild goose chase. The operator said Klein snatched the fire extinguisher and started to beat him with it. Schulman, according to police, said he seized a reel can with which to defend himself until he could wrest away the fire extinguisher, with which he struck back.

The sounds of the fight were audible to patrons in the balcony near the projection room. Two of them notified the manager, Robert Goldstein, who summoned police, turned up the lights, announced that the show was off and gave out passes for future use.

Schulman was arrested on a charge of homicide.

CORONER'S BILL FOR EXPENSES IN GAMBLING DRIVE TABLED
Madison County Supervisors Ask Him to Give Detailed Explanation.

A bill for $222.23, presented to the Madison County Board of Supervisors for expenses incurred by Dr. W. W. Billings, Coroner, in his anti-gambling campaign, was tabled yesterday, with an invitation to Dr. Billings to appear at the board's October meeting for a detailed explanation.

Dr. Billings, who announced Sept. 8 that he had abandoned the drive on Madison County gambling, asked the county to pay $25 for two dozen special deputy badges, $22 for two pairs of handcuffs, $175 for the salaries of six special deputies and 23 cents postage.

The board adopted a resolution requesting the Circuit Court to call an election on a proposal to create a forest preserve of the entire area of Madison County. Sportsmen's clubs are backing the proposal in an effort to obtain State and Federal financing for improvements at Horseshoe Lake.

"THE DART" WARNS DRIVER
Police Believe Frankster Stuck in Steel-Bladed Missile Into Auto.

Warren Moore, 1431 Cutter avenue, reported to police last night that he had found a steel-bladed dart stuck in a crack in the body of his automobile. Printed in red crayon on a piece of wrapping paper, which was around the wooden handle, were the words: "Drive carefully. Signed, The Dart."

Police attributed the note to a prankster.

WOMAN HURT MONDAY BY SERVICE CAR, DIES

Mrs. Mary M. Webb, 72, Succumb—Five-Year-Old Boy Injured.

Mrs. Mary M. Webb, a widow, 5623 Lotus avenue, died today at City Hospital of injuries suffered Monday morning when struck by a service car at Seventeenth street and Washington avenue.

The driver, Alvin Kahn, 2718 Goodfellow boulevard, told police she ran from behind a street car into the path of his automobile. Mrs. Webb, a seamstress, was 72 years old. She was a sister of Patrolman John Broyles.

John Budde, 5, 5318A Sutherland avenue, suffered fractures of the leg and collar bone when struck by an automobile in Macklind avenue, near Lansdowne avenue, at 8:40 p. m. yesterday.

The driver, Mortimer F. Corington, 5456 Itaska street, told police the boy ran into the path of his automobile. A witness corroborated his statement. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff Budde.

FALLS IN ELEVATOR SHAFT
Watchman Found Unconscious With Skull Injury.

Harry J. Spaeth, a watchman, suffered a skull injury last night in a fall in an elevator shaft at the Cupples Co., Seventh and Spruce streets.

He was found unconscious on top of the elevator at the basement level at 1 a. m. by Leo Welby, another watchman. Police said the shaft guard railing at the first floor was raised. Spaeth, 49 years old, resides at 1858 South Twelfth street.

ITALY COMES OUT FOR DIVISION OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Government-Sponsored Statement Declares This Is Only Means of Avoiding European War.

HITLER'S NURNBERG ADDRESS PRAISED

Speech "Powerful Contribution to Clarification of Problem," Semi-Official Bulletin Asserts.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Sept. 14.—The Italian Government sponsored a statement last night advocating separation of the Sudeten German territory from Czechoslovakia as the only means of avoiding a European war.

A bulletin of the semi-official Informations Diplomatiques, distributed by the Government, said the only alternative was "disorder and war."

The same idea was reflected in the Italian press, which gave its endorsement to Chancellor Hitler's Nurnberg address. Informations Diplomatiques termed the speech a "powerful contribution to clarification of the Sudeten problem."

William Phillips, United States Ambassador, received a copy of the bulletin when he paid a courtesy call on Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, before sailing for America tomorrow.

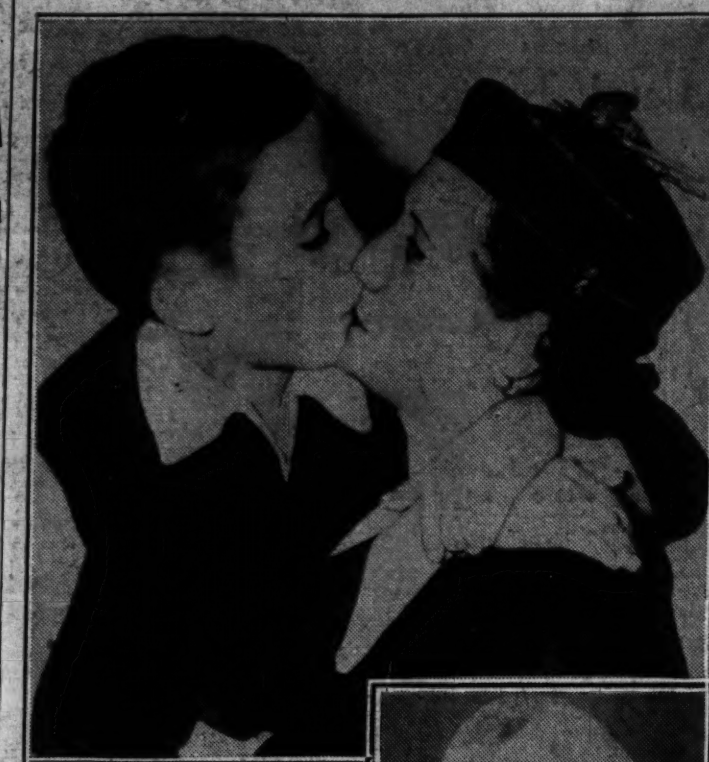

Possibly Written by Mussolini.
The directness with which dismemberment of Czechoslovakia was urged astonished many diplomats. Some remarked that the statement, which was thought to have been written by Premier Mussolini, was much stronger than Hitler's speech.

The world, the bulletin said, does not want a war designed only to maintain the lordship of Prague over the Sudetens.

"Giving the Sudetens the possibility of separating from Prague," the statement said, would be "choosing the way of justice and above all the way of peace; the other solution is that of disorder and war."

Advice to Runciman.
The task of Viscount Runciman (British unofficial mediator in Prague) ought to be directed from now on to convincing President

Court Fight for Child

MRS. LENA DE ANGELO with EUGENE (above), whom she has adopted, and (right) MRS. GILDA CATALDO, who says she is Eugene's mother; that she gave the boy up ten years ago when, following his birth, she lost her sight. Later, following an accident, Mrs. Cataldo says her sight was restored. The disagreement has gone to a Newark, N. J., court.

Beneath that wisdom and convenience consist in accepting the separation of that part (of Czechoslovakia) now completely outside the life of the organism.

"Either this or the chronic disorder of common existence, which will become impossible, with the final end in war."

"But what can Czechoslovakia hope from war? And should millions of the youth of every nation of Europe plunge themselves into a conflict for the sole purpose of maintaining the lordship of Prague over the Sudeten German population?"

Roman circles, the bulletin continued, thought Bolsheviks may have an interest in unleashing a conflagration. Rome was pictured as viewing Czechoslovakia as the "authentic and paradoxical creature of the diplomacy of Versailles where, after demolishing the old Austria, they (the diplomats) felt the need of creating a new one with its capital at Prague."

Ambassador Phillips today postponed a trip home for the second time in order to watch the crisis. He had planned to sail tomorrow, but canceled his passage, as he previously had done Aug. 30, because of his key post as official United States observer at the Rome end of the Rome-Berlin axis.

Virginia Gayda, the authoritative Fascist writer who frequently reflects the views of Premier Mussolini, wrote today that the possibility of a peaceful solution of the Czechoslovak "conflict" had been narrowed further in "spiritual as well as material" aspects.

Gayda declared that the stiffening of Prague's attitude, as evidenced in rejection of a Sudeten ultimatum demanding revocation of martial law in troubled areas, was "becoming provocative."

"It is evident," Gayda wrote in the newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia, "that the Governments of Paris and London have not yet made the Prague understand the gravity of the situation or else they directly are hoping to aggravate it by drawing consequences which we refrain from defining."

"But, notwithstanding the gravity of the moment, we do not yet want to despair of the possibility of settlement."

Countries in Southeastern Europe.
SITUATION AS GRAVE.
BUDAPEST, Sept. 14.—Fears that the Czechoslovak crisis might plunge Europe into war mounted in Southeastern Europe today.

In Bucharest, King Carol of Rumania presided at a meeting of the Crown Council. The newspaper Rumania, regarded as official, declared in an editorial that Germany apparently had learned nothing from the World War and remained "the nation which still indulges in threats and despotism—they want to rule the world."

A Rumanian Foreign Office official said Rumania's sympathy with Czechoslovakia, Little Entente ally, would not necessarily force Rumania into war as long as Hungary remained neutral.

In Belgrade informed sources said Yugoslavia, another ally of Czechoslovakia, still hoped for peace, but "such last hopes" were placed on the possibility that Britain might find a solution.

The Yugoslav Government organ, Uprava, declared the "never since Napoleon was the decision between war and peace so entrusted in a single man as now—Hitler." The newspaper expressed confidence in Hitler's sense of responsibility before the world "in this grave hour."

In Budapest the newspaper Pester Lloyd, regarded as official, said the door to possible permanent peace in Europe might be slammed at any moment.

In concert with other Hungarian newspapers, Pester Lloyd urged Czech statesmen not to ignore Sudeten German demands.

U. S. BUILDING BOMB SHELTER IN ITS LEGATION IN PRAGUE
Wine Cellar Being Converted Into Air Raid Refuge With Czechs' Approval.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A bomb-proof cement and steel shelter is being built under a wing of the United States legation in Prague, Czechoslovakia. It was authorized by the State Department after the Czech Government had given its approval.

The legation is undergoing a partial reconstruction whether they could use the shelter in case of aerial attack. Minister Wilbur Carr, however, has been forced to tell them the legation staff and families will about fill the refuge.

The United States Embassy in Berlin is also about to undergo extensive repairs. It is reported a bomb-proof shelter may be built there.

HENLEIN'S RISE FROM TURNER TO POLITICIAN

A Soldier in Hapsburg Army, He Took Up Gymnastics, Then Founded Sudeten Party.

By the Associated Press.
PRAGUE, Sept. 14.—A studious appearing former gymnastic instructor leads the majority of Czechoslovakia's 3,000,000 Sudeten Germans.

Konrad Henlein, 40 years old, was unknown to the outside world until 1933. Until Adolf Hitler took power in neighboring Germany, Henlein was an obscure teacher of gymnastics at Asch.

This town of about 20,000 population is in the westernmost corner of old Bohemia, where it projects spur-like into German Saxony. Virtually the whole population is racially German.

Born near Reichenberg (now Liberec), near the German Silesian frontier, then a part of the Austro-Hungarian empire, Henlein enlisted when barely 16 years old as a volunteer in the World War armies of the Hapsburgs. He was promoted to officer's rank. He was wounded on the Alpine front and taken prisoner by the Italians in 1918.

After the war he became a bank clerk at Jablonec, but in 1925 took up gymnastics. He soon acquired control of all the German "turner clubs" of the country and made the Czech "sokolis," or gymnastic organizations, take notice.

His organizing talents turned his attention to politics, and on Oct. 1, 1933, he resigned as chief of the German turnverbund in Czechoslovakia and in a manifesto called upon all Germans to unite in a "Sudeten German Heimat front."

The term Sudeten was taken from the Sudetic Mountains on Czechoslovakia's northern frontier.

Later his group was renamed the Sudeten German party. Two years later, in the elections of 1935, his party polled 1,240,497 votes and obtained 44 seats in the House of Deputies and 23 in the Senate.

In communal elections early this summer his party was supported by more than 90 per cent of the German minority.

Henlein himself holds no seat in Parliament, preferring to run his party's affairs from his home at Asch. He is married, but has no children.

Picnic for Benefit of Hospital.
BREESE, Ill., Sept. 14.—A picnic for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital will be held at the fair grounds here today, with a parade starting from the City Hall at 5:30 p. m., followed by a band concert at the grounds at 6:30 p. m. The principal entertainment of the evening will be bingo and other games. Refreshments and eatables will be served.

CZECH DIPLOMAT SAYS NATION IS READY TO RUN ANOTHER YEAR

Charge at Washington Declares Country Will Never Give Up Territory Voluntarily.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Dr. Karel Brestka, Czech Charge d'Affaires, said last night that Czechoslovakia was ready to defend itself and would never "voluntarily sacrifice any territory."

His remarks were made in the prepared text of a radio conversation between him and an interviewer.

"The army," he said, "is equipped with modern arms and the firm determination of the people to defend their country compensates for what may be lacking in numerical strength. The soldiers know that they would be defending a just cause."

Asked whether the acquisition of the Sudeten area would mean much to Germany, Dr. Brestka said: "Yes. The so-called Sudeten German section in Bohemia, which never belonged to Germany but was always a part of the lands of the Bohemian crown, is rich in natural resources, namely coal, kaolin (used in making china) and ore. In the western part of Bohemia we have the world famous spa, Karlovy Vary, Marienbad and others. Because of the natural resources these districts are highly developed industrially."

Continuation of the St. Louis W P A sewing project, employing 3000 women, for a year longer, is assured by a notification received by the Mayor's office today from Congressman John J. Cochran. The appropriation for the year's work, covering wages and a part of the material required, is $2,063,194.

The pay of the women employed in the sewing project is $4 a month, and supervisors receive $94 a month. Buildings belonging to the city and the Board of Education, including some abandoned schools, are used. The women make garments for inmates of city institutions and for persons on relief. The city furnishes material for the garments made for the institutions.

FRANCE READY TO CALL 2,000,000 UNDER ARMS
Plans Completed for Action in Case Crisis Demands It, but Held in Abeyance.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 14.—The French Government was reported in informed quarters today to have completed plans for speedy calling into service of 2,000,000 more men, or eight classes of army reserves, should a new grave turn in the European situation makes it necessary.

It is estimated there already are about 2,000,000 men under arms in France and its colonies. The classes from 1931 back to 1934 would be included, meaning that men from 27 to 34 years old, inclusive, would be called.

It was said that the question of calling more men was one of the principal matters considered by Premier Daladier last night, and then was held in abeyance until this morning, when a postponement was decided upon.

FRANCE READY TO CALL 2,000,000 UNDER ARMS
Plans Completed for Action in Case Crisis Demands It, but Held in Abeyance.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 14.—The French Government was reported in informed quarters today to have completed plans for speedy calling into service of 2,000,000 more men, or eight classes of army reserves, should a new grave turn in the European situation makes it necessary.

It is estimated there already are about 2,000,000 men under arms in France and its colonies. The classes from 1931 back to 1934 would be included, meaning that men from 27 to 34 years old, inclusive, would be called.

It was said that the question of calling more men was one of the principal matters considered by Premier Daladier last night, and then was held in abeyance until this morning, when a postponement was decided upon.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, Sept. 14. The Browns were defeated by home Mack's Philadelphia Athletics here this afternoon in the first game of a doubleheader. The score was 4 to 3.

Newsom pitched for the Browns and Luther Thomas for the Athletics.

A home run by Moses in the eighth inning broke a 3-3 tie and won the game for Philadelphia.

Fewer than 500 persons were in the stands when play started. It was a special Ladies' day but apparently the women fans had not heard about it, as fewer than 100 attended.

President Will Harridge of the American League, making a tour of the cities in the circuit, was here for the doubleheader and sat in the front box near the Brownie layout.

The Browns announced today that Pitchers Bonneti, Jim Walker and Emil Bildilli had been released. They reported today and were in uniform.

FIRST INNING—ATHLETICS—Moses popped to Heffner. Sperry singled to center. Barna walked. Almad doubled to left-center, scoring Sperry and Barna. Etten went to bat on a wild pitch. R. Johnson struck out. Werber flied to Almada. TWO RUNS.

BROWNS—Almada singled to right. McQuinn lined to Moses. B. Mills struck out. Clift singled off Werber's glove, Almada stopping at second. Bell forced Clift, Bartling singled. ONE RUN.

SECOND—ATHLETICS—Bartling struck out. Wagner was called out on strikes. Thomas fouled to McQuinn.

BROWNS—Kress walked. Kress was second on a balk. Werber threw out Sullivan. Kress held second. Heffner singled to left. Clift flied to Barna. Kress held second. Newsom flied to R. Johnson. Almada struck out.

THIRD—ATHLETICS—Moses singled to center. Sperry singled to left. Moses stopping at third. Barna flied to Almada. Moses scored. Etten popped to Heffner. R. Johnson flied to B. Mills. ONE RUN.

Cardinals Win First Game for Gonzales, Beating Phillies, 12-9

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—As a result of two fat innings, the Cardinals, working to perfection in their first game under Manager Miguel Gonzales, had little trouble defeating the Phillies in the opener of a doubleheader this afternoon. The score was 12 to 9.

Claude Passeau, starting Phillies pitcher, was battered into oblivion in the fourth inning and had to be relieved by Wild Bill Hallahan. The Cardinals scored six runs in this half before they were retired, which gave them a lead they never lost. They needed more runs to hold their lead and scored them in the sixth with four corners.

Left-hander Max Macon went the full distance for the Cards although often in trouble but his big lead saved him. He yielded a total of 13 hits.

Gonzales used Rookie Frank Crespi at short and he was erratic in fielding his position, making three errors, but looked good on the attack as the result of two singles and a double. Harold Epps, another newcomer, was in center and helped himself to two hits.

Brack hit a homer for the Phils in the sixth with two on base. For Medwick's best figured prominently in the six-run rally in the fourth, for he smashed a homer with two on. This was his only hit of the game.

Morton Cooper, rookie hurler from their Houston farm, pitched for the Cardinals in the second game, while Al "Boots" Hollingsworth was on the hill for the Phils.

Scoring in First Game.
In the first game the Phillies took advantage of errors to score two runs in the first inning, but Slaughter drove in two markers with a double to tie it up in the Cards' third. Scharen's double and Brack's single put Wilson's men ahead in the last of the third, but the Redbirds made five hits good for six runs in the fourth. Bremer, Crespi, Macon and Epps getting singles and Medwick his homer with two on base.

Three straight singles and an outfield fly were good for only one Philadelphia run in the last of the fourth, and Gonzales' men ended the sixth with four more in the production along with singles by Mike, Bremer and Macon and Crespi's double.

Once again the Phils followed a big Cardinal inning with only tally, singles by Whitney and Virgil Davis, a walk and an outfield fly bringing it home. Singles by Whitney, Clark and Young, a force play at second and Brack's homer gave the men of Wilson their last four runs in the eighth.

The second game—Cardinals—Epps walked. S. Martin sacrificed, Hollingsworth to Weintraub. Slaughter walked. Medwick flied to Brack. Mike walked, filling the bases. Brown walked, forcing in Epps. Myers flied to Brack. One RUN. PHILLIES—Mueller tripled to right. Brack flied to Epps. Mueller scoring. Klein flied to Slaughter. Weintraub walked. Weintraub took second on a passed ball. S. Martin threw out Arnovich. ONE RUN.

SECOND—CARDINALS—Bremer popped to Feinberg. Mueller threw out Cooper. Epps fouled to Whitney.

PHILLIES—Whitney popped to Myers. Myers threw out Atwood. Feinberg struck out.

THIRD—CARDINALS—S. Martin popped to Mueller. Slaughter beat out a hit to Mueller.

PHILLIES—Whitney singled. Slaughter to third, and Medwick flied to second on the throw-in. Mike was intentionally passed, filling the bases. Brown fouled to Weintraub. Myers struck out.

PHILLIES—Hollingsworth doubled to center. Mueller walked. Brack fouled Hollingsworth. Cooper to Brown. Klein walked, filling the bases. Weintraub flied to Epps. Mueller scoring. Arnovich flied to S. Martin.

FOURTH—CARDINALS—Hollingsworth threw out Bremer. Feinberg made a great play to throw out Cooper. Epps singled to center. Epps stole second. S. Martin flied to Mueller.

PHILLIES—Myers threw out Whitney. Atwood struck out. Feinberg beat out a hit to S. Martin. Feinberg was out stealing. Bremer to Myers.

FAIRMOUNT RACE TRACK,
Sept. 14.—Bomount, a well-bred three-year-old owned and trained by T. B. Miller, won here last fall at odds of 10 to 1 and came right back this afternoon to take the first race for a mutual refund of $27.60 for $2.

Bomount had won one race in 14 starts this year and was not considered quite up to such horses as Musical Jack and Panatela, but he ran away from them and won by a length over Triple Play. Prince Pad was left at the post in the first half start of the meeting and Bomount went promptly to the front under Tommy Atkinson's hustling ride.

The track was deep in mud and the weather cloudy and warm.

Another for McCadden.
The art and the good right arm of the McCadden stable, Terminus, going when he wanted to stop in the last 70 yards of the five-and-one-half-furlong second race. Terminus was well out in front for half a mile, but when Red Go, coming through on the rail at the head of the stretch, looked him in the eye, the son of Terminus faltered.
McCadden almost broke his whip in shaking up Terminus and the horse responded to win by a whisker in a camera finish. Western Ruff up from back to back strong third.

It was McCadden's seventeenth victory of the meeting.
Young Bill, sticking to his knitting when the others were crying quit in the latter stages of the third race, won the decision from George's Hair, Crabtree and nine others. Frankie Chojack rode the winner, taking advantage of every chance to save ground and move up as Parqua Pass and then Ogee faltered after taking turns at setting the pace. The winner paid $20.40 for $2.

The daily double on Terminus and Young Bill rebounded $106.80 for $2.

first, a field of eight. It was Hiddeite in front all the way through the mile and 70 yards and although Our Sammy made a brave bid in the latter stages, Hanauer's horse won handsily. Sallanauer was third and Rockin, the favorite, was far back after a dull-looking performance.

Here's how Don Morgan looked after he was thrown by Ozark following the running of the second race at Fairmount yesterday. Morgan finished second with Ozark, but received a real mud bath when he fell in trying to pull up his mount after crossing the finish line. The jockeys picked up from 2 to 5 pounds of mud, according to the clerk of the scales.

GRANT UPSETS QUIST IN U. S. SINGLES MEET

By the Associated Press.
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Bryan (Bibby) Grant of Atlanta, Ga., placed eighth and last on the United States seeded list, today completely confounded the Ranking Committee by upsetting the second-seeded foreigner, Adrian Quist of Australia, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5, to gain the quarter-final round of the men's national singles tennis championships.

Bitzy steadfastly refused to buckle and must have made Quist feel as if he were hitting balls against a stone wall. For everything the Australian Davis Cup star hit came back at him, and Grant took all the sting out of his rival's hardest shots with soft returns.

There were nine service breaks in the final set, with Grant scoring the deciding one in the eleventh game, then losing one match point in the twelfth on a placement by Quist before putting over the final point by rushing into the forecourt and planting a backhand shot of Quist's reach.

Defending Champion Don Budge easily defeated England's towering left-handed hope, Charles Edgar Hare, to gain his quarterfinal bracket with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-0 triumph. Budge won four straight games after Hare had broken his service to lead at 4-2 in the second set, and allowed the Englishman, who had carried him to 15-13 in Davis Cup play a year ago, only eight points in the last set.

Into the round of eight with the little Atlantic went Harry Hopman, wiry, spindly-shouldered, non-playing captain of the Australian Davis Cup team. The easy Aussie, who had beaten fifth-seeded Elwood Cooke, on Sunday, advanced at the expense of another Junior Davis Cupper, Don McNeill of Oklahoma City. McNeill, ninth in U. S. ranking in 1937, bowed out in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

Key Stammers, attractive English left-hander, opened today's national tennis championships play by reaching the quarterfinal round in the women's division with a 6-0, 6-3 defeat of Barbara Winslow.

YATES, HOLDER OF BRITISH TITLE, AMONG THOSE OUT; GOODMAN WINS 2 MATCHES

Gus Moreland, Medalist in Meet, Carried to 23 Holes by Dunkelberger—Tom Draper, St. Louis' Only Representative, Is Eliminated by Abbott.

By the Associated Press.
OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 14.—Five Walker Cup players, including Charley Yates of Atlanta, British amateur champion, were eliminated in the wave of upsets today in the National Amateur golf championship. Yates was beaten in the second round, 2 and 1, by Edwin Kingsley, a little, bespectacled dark horse from Magna, Utah.

Kingsley, winner of a four-extra-hole match against Steve Kovach in the morning, went ahead on the thirteenth hole by dropping a 12-foot putt for a birdie deuce as Yates missed the green, staved the British champion off with fine scrambling and then clinched the match on the seventeenth with a par four as Yates three-putted.

Waiting for Yates on the sidelines were his Walker Cup mates, Bud Ward of Seattle and Reynolds Smith of Dallas, who lost in the first round; Ray Billows, Poughkeepsie, and Freddie Haas Jr., New Orleans, who lost in an extra-hole match to Joe Thompson of Canada.

Billows was the third Walker cup player to fall today, Bud Ward, Olympia, Wash., and Reynolds Smith, Dallas, dropping out in the morning round. C. Ross Somerville, former titleholder, also was missing after the first round.

Ward was beaten, 3 and 1, by Art Doering, Chicago; Smith fell 2 and 1 before Bob Brownell, Duke sophomore from Norbeck, Md., while Somerville was eliminated by a fellow Canadian, Joe Thompson, of Hamilton, 1 up.

Narrowly escaping elimination was Medalist Gus Moreland, Peoria, Ill., who was carried to the fifth extra hole by young Bobby Dunkelberger, Chicago, amateur champion from Greensboro, N. C.

Eight One Putt Greens.
Defending Champion Johnny Goodman, putting so well that he had eight one putt greens, easily disposed of his first rival, Sid Richardson, Big Ten champion from Chicago, joining Walker Cup mates Fred Haas Jr., New Orleans; Charley Yates, Atlanta, and Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, who applied the pressure to win handsily.

Moreland won on the twenty-third hole with a par 4 as Dunkelberger hit his second into a ditch, dropped out of the casual water, and was short, taking a 6. Moreland was two down through the thirteenth, but rallied to win the next three in a row with two pars and a birdie to go ahead, only to lose the seventeenth where he was trapped. On the eighteenth, Gus came out of a trap to get a bogey five but got a half as Bobby took three to get in from the apron.

They halved the extra hole in birdies, both reaching the 482-yard par 5 hole in two for easy fours. They halved the next three in pars, scrambling from traps and sinking sizeable putts to stay even till the fateful hole.

Tom Draper, St. Louis' only entrant in the competition, was eliminated by Pat Abbott, of Los Angeles, former Public Parks champion, 4 and 3.

Jess Sweetser, former St. Louisan now of New York, former American and British champion, rallied from the brink of defeat to win four of the last five holes with two under-par golf, eliminating J. Wood Platt, Philadelphia, 1 up.

Yates Wins His Match.
Charley Yates of Atlanta, the British amateur champion, came through after a stubborn fight to eliminate Vito Savage, Magna, Utah, 3 and 2, with three-over-par golf.

The commissioner said representatives of five teams have been invited to appear. The teams named were the New York Yankees, New York Giants, Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds.

President Ford Frick of the National League and President William Harridge of the American circuit also will be present.

Hal Schumacher
Blanks Pirates

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Hal Schumacher turned back the league-leading Pirates with seven well scattered hits to enable the Giants to win the first game of this afternoon's doubleheader by the shut-out score of 3 to 0. Alon Kampouris' Giant second sacker, hit a home run in the fourth inning.

MRS. HYNES, FORMER CHAMPION, LOSES IN DISTRICT GOLF

BEATEN, 3 AND 2, BY MRS. SINZ OF MEADOW BROOK

Mrs. Caughey, Present Title Holder, and Sara Guth Gain Easy Victories in Second Round.

By W. J. McGoogan
MEADOW BROOK COUNTRY CLUB, Sept. 14.—A former champion of women's district golf, Mrs. I. S. Hynes of Westborough, was eliminated in the second round of the tournament here this afternoon. Often a strong contender and title winner in 1929, Mrs. Hynes was beaten, 3 and 2, by Mrs. R. W. Sinz of Meadow Brook, a newcomer to local golf this year.

Three over par on the first nine Mrs. Sinz had a 41 against Mrs. Hynes' 44 to make the turn three up. Mrs. Sinz lost the twelfth to Mrs. Hynes' par four, won the fourteenth with a par five, and the rest of the holes were saved.

The victory made Mrs. Sinz a favorite to reach the 36-hole final Saturday against Miss Sara Louise Guth of Algonquin, who is in the other bracket of play.

Mrs. Sinz came here from San Antonio, Tex., where she was president of the women's district golf association. Her husband is manager of a retail credit company and they have lived in five different states during the last five years, which accounts for her bobbing up here to confound predictions in this tournament. Sinz lost to Miss Guth in the Missouri state tournament, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Carl P. Daniel of Algonquin, medalist in this tourney, reached the quarterfinals with a 2 and 1 victory over Mrs. C. A. Wolfe, member of the same club.

Miss Guth One Over Par.
Sara Guth, Missouri State champion, and Mrs. Richard I. Caughey, defending the district title, continued their advance with easy victories.

Miss Guth, shooting a one-over-par 39 on the first nine, showed good form in beating Mrs. R. R. Berry, Normandale, 8 and 7.

Mrs. Caughey was only two over women's par for 18 holes with an 80 as she finished the round after defeating Mrs. J. L. Bauman of Algonquin, 7 and 6. Mrs. Caughey made this score despite a seven on the par-four No. 7. She was out in 40 and back in an even par 40.

The experienced tournament competitor, Mrs. Doris Spalding of Norwood, advanced to the quarterfinals with a 6 and 6 triumph over the former girls' champion, Miss Adele Baur of Glen Echo.

Miss Georgia Drexler, 23-year-old Normandale member, won medalist honors here when she won medal honors in the recent State championship at St. Joseph, then lost to Miss Guth in the final, won her match from Mrs. M. B. Sicher, Norwood, 3 and 2.

Over Production.

It is rumored that the Cardinal organization is becoming lean and mean and will dispose of some of its agrarian acreage. No profit in plowing under the ivory.

THE farmer in the dell is doing no well. The ivory crop has been a flop. His stuff he cannot sell.

No pennants he can win. He takes it on the chin. Heigho the merry oh. He takes it on the chin.

Some acreage will sell. A blank check up ranks to fill the blanks. That haven't done so well.

Fair Enough.

Henry Armstrong is vacating the featherweight title. Reason, sugar not heavy enough for the weight involved.

However, knocking off the lights and welters as they come along is not exactly what you'd call a boon dogging job.

If defending two titles doesn't keep Henry sufficient busy he might fill in the time between fights by making moving pictures.

COME all ye husky welterweights, and eke you who are light.

I'm craving 45-round debates and might fill in the time between fights by making moving pictures.

The only title I eschew is that of feather champ.

But gladly in the other two I'll take you into camp.

Hank Greenberg has to do better than one home run every two games to catch up with Babe Ruth's record. Not a walkover but it can be done.

Margot Lumb, a southpaw racketeer from England, put Helen Jacobs out of the national singles championship. What you might call left hands across the sea.

Bobby Riggs also was eliminated by Gil Hunt of Washington, D. C. It was a bad day for the big shots.

Twelve members of the Hickman (Ky.) High School football team defied their hair a flaming red as a compliment to their new coach who happens to have red hair. The boys' parents are thankful that the new coach didn't have a cork leg.

Johnny Paycheck, the Des Moines bell hop cashed in again when he outpointed Art Oliver Monday night. Since getting into the right hands Paycheck has proved to be a veritable meal ticket.

Breadon Is in No Hurry to Select A New Manager

FRANKIE FRISCH's successor as manager of the Cardinals will be appointed before the annual winter baseball meetings, President Sam Breadon of the Redbirds told the Post-Dispatch yesterday.

"There is no hurry about it and we are going to take our time," Sam explained. "Somebody might become available, somebody we would want, as late as November. We will be in plenty of time if we have a manager to attend the minor and major league meetings with us in late November and early December."

But certainly baseball's outstanding players have been rewarded as few leaders in other professions have been. We can pass up as exceptions Babe Ruth, Hornsby, Gehrig and the boys who have attained $50,000 a year or more. We may, however, note the case of Frankie Frisch, the "Fordham Flash," who lately left the Cardinals after having done wonders for the team, both as player and manager.

Frankie went to the New York Giants from Fordham and was one of the few collegians able to stand that difficult test. With the Giants until 1927 and with the Cardinals ever since he has put in an even 20 seasons as player and leader.

Landis Cancels Dodgers' Deal With Syracuse

By the Associated Press.
BROOKLYN, Sept. 14.—Larry MacPhail, general manager of the Dodgers, announced today that the recent deal with Syracuse of the International League for Outfielder Jimmy Outlaw and Pitcher Jake Mooney had been canceled by Commissioner Landis.

The Dodgers had acquired Outlaw and Mooney on a conditional basis until May 15 in return for two players on option. Landis disapproved, stating a nominal cash sum should be paid immediately as the result of the Commissioner's decision, both of the players are subject to the draft.

MacPhail also announced the purchase of Ray Hayworth, veteran catcher, and Don Ross, young third baseman, from the Detroit Tigers.

Johnny Paycheck, the Des Moines bell hop cashed in again when he outpointed Art Oliver Monday night. Since getting into the right hands Paycheck has proved to be a veritable meal ticket.

NO MARYLAND DECISION IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Rarely-Used System of Second-Choice Voting at Sept. 28 Convention.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 14. — A rarely used system of second-choice voting will be brought into play to determine the Democratic nominee for Governor of Maryland today from Monday's primary, in which the Democrats voted by a margin of more than 50,000 to renominate Senator Millard E. Tydings, who had been placed on President Roosevelt's purge list. With returns in from 1135 of 1228 precincts, Tydings had 169,547 to 113,387 for Representative David J. Lewis, the Roosevelt-backed candidate.

The gubernatorial race among Mayor Howard W. Jackson, Attorney-General Herbert R. O'Connor, Comptroller William S. Gordy Jr. and Senate President Lansdale G. Sasser was far from settled. Returns from 1172 precincts gave: O'Connor 137,852 popular votes and 61 convention votes. (The nomination is in convention with 75 votes required.)

Jackson, 125,882 and 63. Gordy, 29,425 and 12. Sasser, 21,687 and 13. The high man in popular votes in each city district or county receives its first-choice votes in the convention Sept. 28 with the second high man receiving its second-choice convention ballots. The low man is dropped after the first convention vote and his second choices are distributed as marked among the others.

That process continues until one has the necessary 75 votes.

GRAND JURY INDICTS MAN WHO CONFESSED KILLING WIFE

Bill Charging Second-Degree Murder Returned Against Salvatore Patti in Fatal Slabbing.

An indictment charging second-degree murder against Salvatore Patti, a railroad laborer, who killed his wife, Lucille, with a knife last July 27, was returned yesterday, the first to be voted by the new grand jury.

Patti confessed to police, the day that his wife was killed, that he used a knife with a curved blade usually used in trimming linoleum. The woman was killed in a vacant lot at the southwest corner of Eleventh and Howard streets, where the body was found. After returning to his home at 1419 Blair avenue, he went out again, ostensibly to search for his wife.

The Department of Labor has informed the Circuit Attorney's office that Patti, a Sicilian, is known as Salvatore Patti di Stefano, and requested that the department be informed of any action taken against him. He told police he had entered this country illegally in 1929, coming from Italy as a sailor.

JOHN A. LOVE JR. FINED

Ordered to Pay $10 and Costs for Hunting Without License.

John A. Love Jr. of Ladue road, a student at Virginia Military Institute, was fined $10 and costs on his plea of guilty of hunting without a license in St. Charles recently. It was learned yesterday.

Justice of the Peace Joseph Mahon, who imposed the fine, said the youth's father, John Allen Love, real estate dealer, asked that his son be fined a sufficient amount to make him remember to carry his license in the future. The father and son had been hunting doves at a St. Charles County hunting club shortly after the opening of the dove season two weeks ago. The complaint was made by a State game conservation agent.

Additional Editorial Comment On Victory of Senator Tydings

Philadelphia Record Says President's Effort Is Noble One and Should Continue—Purge Doesn't Pay, Herald Tribune Asserts.

Following are additional excerpts from editorial comment throughout the country on the results of Monday's primary in Maryland:

New York Herald Tribune: It is no secret that the supporters of Senator Tydings had hoped only for a bare majority in the Maryland primaries. They have received, instead, a vote of almost 3 to 2—in the circumstances on overwhelming victory. Mr. Roosevelt had done all in his great power to bring about Mr. Tydings' defeat, including a last-minute bribe of two bridges, offered in the hope of demonstrating to the voters of Maryland that their bread was buttered on the New Deal side. The setback for Mr. Roosevelt is severe. This does not, perhaps, mean that Mr. Roosevelt's personal popularity throughout the country has been permanently impaired. So long as he is the fountain of support for a fifth of the nation's population he is sure to remain high in the public favor. But it is a sharp defeat for his methods. The victory of Mr. Tydings makes the score in the presidential game of purge 7 to 0 in favor of Mr. Roosevelt's opponents. The victory of the banned Senator George in Georgia is confidently expected in the primaries today. This will make the final score 8 to 0. Apparently it does not pay to purge in America.

Philadelphia Record: Any liberal who tries to hide his disappointment over the results of recent primary elections is kidding himself. A liberal got beat in Maryland. . . . The President has courageously chosen the hard way of realigning American political parties, of making them stand for something more than twaddledum and twaddledoe. He may never succeed—for the political traditions have been set to set up two major parties and let them both avoid as many issues as possible—but it is a noble effort and we sincerely hope he continues it, despite the setbacks.

Philadelphia Inquirer: Maryland free State remains true to its ancient traditions of courage and independence. . . . The administration's attempt to dictate the selection of popular representatives, even to the extent of using P. W. A. grants as lures, looks to be a monumental political blunder. As a threat to fundamental American principles it rivals the repudiated pack packing program.

Boston Herald: The victory of Senator Tydings in the Maryland Democratic primary is a fresh evidence that the voters are as much opposed to the presidential conception of a predetermined Senate as to his ideal of a Supreme Court manipulated by the White House. The large majority of Senator Tydings leaves no room for misinterpretation of the result. The President may be strong personally, but he cannot transfer his strength to his underlings.

Baltimore Sun: It is not necessary to get off the face of the earth when Mr. Roosevelt frowns. That is the central fact declared by the senatorial primaries in Maryland. It is a fact which should find permanent lodgment in the minds of the flatterers who surround him. Certainly, it will find lodgment in the minds of the American people. In this, the sweeping victory of Senator Millard E. Tydings over Mr. David J. Lewis signals the restoration of dignity in the political life of this country.

Chicago Daily News: Never before in our political history has a President involved himself so deeply in his primaries. Never before has a President gone so far in trying to tell the people just how to vote. That is why no previous President ever received a rebuke so stinging as that now administered to Mr. Roosevelt. Most Democrats, though they voted for Roosevelt, want a President who will confine himself to his duties as an executive, instead of trying also to be judge, legislator and a precinct captain. Mr. Roosevelt should meditate upon his lesson. By his own statement, he has felt that he had a mandate from the people to do the things he has been trying to do. Do not their primaries constitute a mandate as imperative as that of 1936? But we doubt if the President will learn from this experience. He has chosen his path, and he seems to intend to follow it stubbornly through.

Chicago Tribune: Mr. Roosevelt threw everything he had into Maryland to defeat Senator Millard E. Tydings. . . . The result was another of the flops which have marked the progress of Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to defeat every Democratic Senator who refused first to give him a packed Supreme Court and who then opposed other measures by which he has sought to make himself the sole authority in a personal government over the American people. . . . The black-listed men will have something to remember when they return to Congress.

nothing of what may come from an increase in the number of Republicans in the next Senate and House.

Kansas City Star—Not since Francis Scott Key, watching anxiously from the British fleet, described the Star Spangled Banner still floating over Fort McHenry, can any dawn have brought such joy to patriotic hearts in Maryland as that which yesterday saw the mounting evidence of the outcome of the President's invasion of the Free State. . . . The flag still flies over the citadel of state rights. Thy heel is on the despot's neck, Maryland, my Maryland.

Louisville Courier-Journal: . . . While the President as yet has not been able to oust any of the Senators who have displeased him, it is not likely that he will be discouraged in his effort to liberalize the Democratic party. He has intimated that his fight to that end will go on, regardless of the results of the primaries. . . .

Louisville Times—That Millard E. Tydings won in Maryland's senatorial primary does not cause surprise. That the net result of the President's personal participation in pre-primary campaigns would be a string of fish in the form of New Deal nominees supplanting incumbents opposed to the New Deal was not believed widely. Nobody who knows American politics could believe that a President could shake the foundations of democracy by speaking in congressional campaigns. Americans vote as they please.

Nashville Tennessean: It is one of the rules of practical politics that any and all available ammunition is meant to be used, and in Maryland the advantage lay with the incumbent Senator. If the same does not prove true in Georgia today, all predictions will have gone awry.

Kansas City Racketeer Trial Oct. 3. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 14.—Judge Thomas J. Sechorn has set Oct. 3 as the trial date for 25 persons indicted on racketeering and vandalism charges by a grand jury last Thursday. Eighteen others remain to be assigned. Trial for Joseph B. Says Nation Can Consume Three Times Present Output.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. — The Department of Agriculture said today it would be desirable to more than double the acreage of flax. A flax specialist reported that 8,000,000 bushels were raised in the nation on 1,000,000 acres during the last year. Three times that amount could be consumed by the United States, he said. An experiment in flax growing in Texas. The department said 1000 acres had been planted there this year successfully and estimated an acreage of 10,000 next year.

'NO WAR FOR U.S.' SAYS SMALL BUSINESSMEN

Hull's Stand in Mexico Commanded in Resolution at Pittsburgh Convention.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 14. — A resolution declaring the nation must avoid "entanglement" with Mexico and urging Government officials to refrain from statements that would draw the country into "the political unrest of Europe" was adopted today by the National Small Business Men's Association. "Americans do not want war," the resolution said, "and the people of the United States, who must furnish their children as gun fodder and pay the cost of war, will hold our officials accountable for their acts and the future safety of our democracy."

Another resolution commended Secretary of State Hull for his "sound position and action" in making protests to the Mexican Government against the expropriation of property owned by American oil companies. The resolution also praised Hull for his "high statesmanship in representing to the Mexican Government its violation of those accepted principles of international law upon which peace and good will are founded."

L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, told the association the "two greatest problems" in the nation today were "falling farm prices and unemployment."

"What we need in America," he said, "is an open season on politicians, crepe-hangers and prophets of doom. Too many people are looking to Washington and Wall Street for recovery when they should be looking to the farms and small business."

He suggested the "Four Horsemen of Recovery" get together around "a common table and with mutual respect" solve the recovery problem. The "Four Horsemen," he said, were business, labor, the farmer and the consumer.

The resolutions approved today were the first of several prepared for the convention. Others, leaders said, dealt with taxes and "Government interference in business."

Convention leaders, expressing disappointment at the small turnout, said 219 delegates had registered. J. Raymond Tiffany, general counsel, waved a sheet of telegrams from members which read, in substance, he said:

"Business is punk. No loose money for conventions."

The delegates were pledged to preserve free enterprise, described as the purpose of the organization in an address last night by Dewitt Emery of Akron, O., president and founder.

Emery declared the organization was not anti-New Deal, then added: "Small business men do not want anyone, the Government least of all, to hold an umbrella over them. . . . They are vitally interested in being let alone to conduct their businesses as they see fit . . . within the bounds of moral decency."

CHAIRMAN HAMILTON ON ELECTION RETURNS

Says Maryland and Maine Show New Deal Can't Buy Continuance in Power.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. —Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican National Committee said in a statement yesterday that the outcome of the Maryland primary and the Maine election demonstrated that the New Deal "cannot buy its continuance in power" with taxpayers' money.

"Confused, uncertain and bitterly quarrelling among themselves over the debate of their policies, the New Dealers until Monday only had left their reputed ability to influence the course of this year's elections by shoveling out the taxpayers' money," he said. "Now that New Deal asset is gone."

Hamilton said that in Maine Louis J. Brann, the Democratic candidate, sought the Governor's office "primarily on the promise that he would get for Maine its share of the Washington pork-barrel."

Of Maryland, he said: "There the leading Federal jobholders were dragged by the administration into support of Senator Tydings' opponent. There bridges costing millions of dollars were promised. There Senator Tydings' opponent opened his campaign addresses with announcements of the millions which the United States Housing Authority had just decided to spend in the State. . . . What further evidence is needed to demonstrate that with its power to buy elections gone, the New Deal is through?"

Representative Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, issued this statement:

"Maine and Maryland tell the same story. After six years of patient waiting, the people realize there is no chance under the present set-up of getting the 12,000,000 unemployed back to work at American wages. In their desperate plight they are demanding that somebody else be given the chance of solving the big problem of the day—putting people back to work."

CROWDS CHEER WORLD'S SAFEST STOPPING

As St. Louis Sees Dramatic Test of HUDSON Exclusive Double-Safe Brakes

BANG! HYDRAULIC BRAKES ARE DISCONNECTED!
A cartridge explodes as the test car speeds toward the "Stop" line, and a specially installed device puts the hydraulic braking system completely out of commission. Ahead, a bicycle and a lifelike dummy child-rider. Can the driver stop in time? He did in this most dramatic of all safe-stopping tests conducted in St. Louis under Traffic Commission supervision. STOPPED SIMPLY BY PUSHING ON THE REGULAR BRAKE PEDAL! A separate mechanical reserve braking system took hold automatically. Could you stop your car this way? NOT UNLESS IT'S A HUDSON... THE ONLY CARS WITH THESE DOUBLE-SAFE BRAKES—BRAKES WITHOUT A "QUESTION MARK!"

TYPICAL of the way Hudson does things, of the pace-setting advancements you will find throughout a Hudson, is this great forward step in hydraulic brakes that was so convincingly demonstrated to thousands in St. Louis.

If the best can be improved on, don't give up until it has been made better! That's Rule Number One at Hudson, and has been for twenty-nine years. You'll see its results in many other things than safest stopping . . . in more room than in any other cars built today, in performance that holds every worthwhile official record . . . in economy that put two Hudsons, one a Six and the other an Eight, at the top of their classes in the 1938 Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run. You'll see it in outside beauty and inside comfort . . . in easier riding, steering and the finest of automatic gear shifting . . . in all the things that add up to greater value.

Your nearest Hudson dealer cordially invites you to drive a Hudson . . . a Hudson Terraplane, Hudson Six or Eight, or the new "lowest priced" car, the Hudson 112 . . . and discover how amazingly better a car you can own for less, probably, than you have usually paid. # TWO COUNTY ELECTIONS ON BOND ISSUES SATURDAY

Kirkwood to Vote on New Library, Concord District on $27,500 for New Schoolhouse.
Two special elections will be held in St. Louis County Saturday on proposals to issue bonds to pay for building.

In Kirkwood, the election will be on the proposal to issue $38,500 in bonds to purchase a site and erect a public library at Clay and Adams avenues. A PWA grant has been asked for to complete the total cost of $70,000.

The election in the Concord School District will determine whether $27,500 in bonds shall be issued to erect a four-room brick grade school on the Concord School road, between Sappington and Tesson Ferry roads. The PWA has granted $24,525 to complete the cost of the new structure, which would replace the present frame building.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN SHOTS, KILLS SELF IN FOREST PARK

Police Called by Person Who Heard Pistol Report; Body Found Beside Bench.
An unidentified man about 70 years old shot and killed himself shortly before 12:30 p. m. today in Forest Park. Police summoned by a person in the park who heard the shot, found the body, a bullet through the right temple, lying beside a bench about 500 feet south of Government drive on Tamm walk. A .32-caliber revolver was found nearby.

The man was described by police as being 5 feet, 11 inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds, and wearing glasses. He was dressed in a brown suit, gray hat and black shoes. On a laundry mark on the collar of his shirt, the name E. B. Walton was printed in ink. He carried no wallet or other means of identification.

CAT CLUB SHOW NOV. 19 - 20

Third Annual Competition at Gatesworth Hotel.
The third annual championship show of the Greater St. Louis Cat Club will be held Nov. 19 and 20 at the Gatesworth Hotel. Cash prizes as well as ribbons will be awarded to winners in the various classes.

Although the object of the club is the promotion of interest in pedigreed cats of all classes, entries of cats without pedigrees but having unusual markings or exceptional beauty will be accepted.

FRESH EVIDENCE TO BE OFFERED AT NEXT HINES TRIAL

Dewey to Go Into Policy Racket in More Detail and Will Call Handwriting Experts.

TO REPEAT QUESTION CAUSING MISTRAL

Justice Pecora Says Use of Word 'Business,' Instead of 'Racket,' Might Have Kept Case Going.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The question which moved Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora to declare a mistrial for James J.
Hines will be repeated by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey when the Tammany district leader stands trial again on charges he provided political protection for the Dutch Schultz policy racket.

Dewey's aide made this clear yesterday as they emphasized their conviction that the District Attorney had not erred legally in asking the 14-word question which Justice Pecora characterized as "fatally prejudicial" to Hines' fundamental rights.

Justice Pecora, recognizing that his decision had been criticized in some quarters, said yesterday a reversal would have resulted had the case gone to the jury and Hines been found guilty. The expense, he said, would have been greater in the case of a re-trial than in a mistrial.

To Seek New Trial Soon.

Dewey himself said merely: "Hines will be brought to justice. I will move for a new trial at the earliest possible date."

Dewey's aid said "the same or an identical indictment" would be used against Hines when he is brought to trial again, and Dewey himself defended the indictment as perfect.

The District Attorney's assistants said the cases which Justice Pecora had cited in support of his decision were not relevant to the incident in the Hines case.

The motion for a mistrial, made Saturday by Chief Defense Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker, was based on a 14-word question asked by Dewey during cross-examination of Lyon Boston, an Assistant District Attorney under former District Attorney William C. Dodge. Boston testified there was insufficient evidence presented to the 1935 "run-away" grand jury for Hines' indictment.

"Don't you remember any testimony about Hines and the poultry racket there by him?" Dewey asked, referring to one of the grand jury witnesses.

One Word Caused Mistrial.
Justice Pecora said yesterday, in answer to a question by a reporter, that had Dewey said "poultry business" instead of "poultry racket" the mistrial motion would in all probability have been denied.

Dewey's assistants disclosed that at the next trial the prosecution will present its case in greater detail, and that the State is ready to put on the witness stand three handwriting experts to identify the author of the "J. Hines" indorsement on the back of a $500 check, which, the State contends, was given Hines in partial payment for his protection of the racket.

The experts named were Albert D. Osborne and Elbridge W. Stein, who testified for the State in the Hauptmann case, and Scott Leslie, prominent in numerous trials in this city.

POLICEMAN FINDS UNTAXED
ALCOHOL IN HIS GARAGE

Wife Had Rented Their Garage and Man Who Drives Up Later Is Arrested.

Patrolman Walter Kunz of the Lynch Street District called police to his home, 8301 South Broadway, yesterday afternoon and reported he had found 15 tins of untaxed alcohol in his garage. He said his wife rented the garage to a man during the day but had not seen the cans unloaded.

Kunz and Patrolman Joseph Erbs, Carondelet District, later arrested a man who drove up to the garage in a coupe. Police said he was Melvin Hays, 9225 Clyde avenue, Lemay, who, in April, 1937, was sentenced to a year and a day in the Federal Reformatory at El Reno, Ok., on a liquor charge.

Officers said he admitted the alcohol in the garage belonged to him. Fittings and pipes, which police described as part of a still, were found in his automobile. He was booked as suspected of transportation of untaxed alcohol.

EXPRESS DRIVER KILLS SELF WITH CARBON MONOXIDE

Found Dead in Cab of Truck in Garage at Home After Quarrel With Wife.

Herman E. Detjen, an express-man, ended his life with carbon monoxide last night in the garage back of his home, 4217W Margaretta avenue, after a series of family quarrels.

His body was found in the cab of his truck at 1 a. m. by his wife, Lena. An inhalator was used without effect.

Mrs. Detjen told police she and her husband had quarreled. Detjen, 43 years old, had threatened "to end it all some day," she said.

ROOF OF AIR STREAKS SAID BY SCIENTISTS TO FIX WEATHER

Atmospheric Masses Shaped Like Fishhooks, Are Just Below Stratosphere.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—A roof for the weather, just under the stratosphere, was described to the International Congress for Applied Mechanics here today.

The roof is made of huge streaks of air, shaped like fish hooks. One hook may be a third the breadth of the United States. Twenty or 30 of them may be detected on one day, covering the United States from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

On special maps they resemble clouds. Institute of Technology.
They appear to be the controls for the air beneath them.

Their detection and their part in making the weather was reported by Dr. C. G. A. Rossby, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They were found by airplanes and weather sounding balloons.

There are two types of these fish hooks, or tongues, as Dr. Rossby named them. One is dry air, the other moist.

One end of a moist tongue may start in Texas and run to Tennessee, where its hook will curl to the south. It will be met by a dry tongue coming from the vicinity of New England or Canada, whose hook cups into the Texas air in the curl south of Tennessee.

Each tongue is likely to last for several days. Winds, except violent storms, disturb them surprisingly little. But the winds continually are losing their moisture to the drys. Some heat also is exchanged.

SENATOR WALSH TO ADDRESS
LAWYERS TOMORROW NIGHT

Massachusetts Visitor to Discuss Constitutional Questions Be-

United States Senator David I.
Walsh of Massachusetts will discuss constitutional questions at a meeting of the St. Louis Lawyers' Association tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Coronado Hotel.

He will arrive this afternoon and while here will stay at the home of Luke E. Hart, president of the Lawyers' Association, 6306 McPherson avenue. He is chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs and was first elected to the Senate in 1918. Hart has appointed a reception committee of 18 judges and lawyers, headed by Presiding Judge Charles B. Williams of the Circuit court and including Senator Bennett C. Clark and the three United States District Judges.

P W A PROGRAM SPEEDING UP;
126 APPLICATIONS PER DAY

2000 Requests for Funds Expected Before Sept. 30; 4000 Already Approved.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—P W A officials reported today a greatly accelerated pace in the filing of applications for funds under the new public works program.

During the last week, officials said field officers have received a daily average of 126 applications.
They predicted an additional 2000 requests would be filed before the Sept. 30 deadline.

The program now is in its twelfth week, and 593 Federal and Federal projects, with an estimated construction cost of $1,890,976,224, have been approved. P W A has allotted $778,892,884 of the total.
The rest must be provided locally.

BRIDGES OF CIO FINED ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

Conviction Based on His Criticism of Court Decision in Wire to Miss Perkins.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—Superior Judge Edward T. Bishop convicted Harry Bridges, West Coast Committee for Industrial Organization director, yesterday of contempt of court in dispatching a telegram to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins criticizing another Judge's decision in a dispute between the CIO and the American Federation of Labor.

Bridges was fined $125, or given the alternative of serving one day in jail for each $25 of the fine.
"I find no specific intent on the part of the defendant to violate the telegram as a subterfuge to intimidate the Court," Judge Bishop declared; "but I do believe the publicity resulting from it interfered with the orderly administration of justice, not because it influenced the Judge but because it tended to embarrass and disturb the Court."

A. L. Wirin, defense attorney, argued the message was not given out for publication by Bridges, but by a CIO press agent; that it was releashed to one newspaper and ultimately found its way into a publication read by Superior Judge

Ruben S. Schmidt, who at that time was deliberating a motion for a new trial in the CIO-A. F. of L. dispute over control of San Pedro Longshoremen.

Judge Schmidt testified that publication of the telegram embarrased him. The message referred to a receivership ruling as outrageous and mentioned the possibility of a tie-up of Los Angeles harbor.

Judge Bishop ruled Monday that another threat of a port tieup did not constitute contempt and dismissed the count.

SWEDISH PRINCE CANCELS

By the Associated Press.
STOCKHOLM, Sept. 14.—Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden canceled plans today to attend the funeral of Prince Arthur of Connaught at Windsor, England, Friday, and designated his son, Prince Bertil, to represent him.

No reasons were given for the change, but it was understood it was because of the tense international situation.

Two Robbers Obtain $22
IN CARONDELET PARK HOLDUP

Beer Truck Driver Reports Armed Men Boarded Vehicle and Took $12 From Him.

Three men were held up last night in Carondelet Park by two robbers, who took $22.30 and fled along the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks, which cross the park.

James Latimore, 5001 South Kings highway, Andrew Lamping, 8681
Deior street, and William Ferris, 5443 Nottingham avenue, told police they were seated on a bench at 10:30 o'clock when the robbers threatened them with a revolver and a knife and searched their pockets. Latimore said he lost $10, Lamping $12 and Ferris 20 cents.

Marion J. Cortopassi, driver of a beer truck, reported to police that he was robbed of $12.80 yesterday afternoon by a man armed with a revolver after his truck was forced to the curb by another machine near the Union boulevard viaduct.

The robber got on the truck and ordered him to drive to Claxton avenue and Birch boulevard, Cortopassi said. After taking the money the man returned to the automobile, which had followed the truck.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The Federal Government took its first step yesterday to apply the new wage-hour law to industry, setting up a committee of 21 to determine minimum wages for 1, 000,000 textile workers.

Walter F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, chose the committee and directed it to investigate competitive conditions affecting the manufacture of cotton, silk and wool products in Northern and Southern states.

Andrews announced the appointment today of Prof. Calver Magruder of Harvard Law School as general counsel for the wage-hour division. Magruder was general counsel for the National Labor Relations Board in 1934 and 1935 and was an attorney for the United States Shipping Board after the World War. He once was secretary to Supreme Court Justice Louis Brandeis.

Committee's Authority.
Under the wage-hour law, the textile industry committee is authorized to recommend to the administrator the highest minimum wage between 25 and 40 cents an hour economically feasible in the industry without curtailing employment.

The committee, headed by Donald Nelson Calver, vice-president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., includes representatives each of the textile manufacturers and textile workers.

The South, which offered much opposition in Congress to the wage bill, is represented by nine members. Five from New England's textile centers where complaints have been made that lower wages and living standards have driven workers to the North.

Andrews apportioned the committee representatives among the textile industries of organized labor by naming five committee members from the CIO's Textile Workers of America, and two from the American Federation of Labor. The A. F. of L. recently started to rebuild its strength in the textile mills.

Wool and Hosiery Excluded.
Wool and hosiery were excluded from the committee's jurisdiction.
Andrews said he would leave it to the discretion of the committee to decide what portion of the men's clothing industry should be included, and likewise what manufacturers and finishers of yarn and knit goods using some wool fiber might come under the committee's jurisdiction.

He excluded from the committee's scope that portion of the rayon industry which manufactures rayon as a chemical process. It will be covered later, he said, by a committee for the chemical industry.
Some of the labor and manufacturers' representatives on the committee are reported to favor a minimum of 30 cents an hour, 5 cents above the basic minimum which goes into effect automatically Oct. 24.

Under the N. R. A. cotton textile rule, the hourly minimum wage in the South was 30 cents, and in the North 33 cents.

Whatever wage recommendation the committee makes may be incorporated in a wage order by the administrator. If the recommendation is unacceptable to him the minimum may be sent back to the committee or handed to a new committee.

Missouri G. O. P. Platform
Makes New Deal Chief Issue
Ignoring Pendergast Bossism

Supreme Court Fight Abandoned—Democrats Indorse Administration—Both Dodge Proposed Gasoline Tax Rise.

By CURTIS A. BEYTES,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 14.—Platforms for the fall campaign were adopted yesterday by the Democratic and Republican State candidates' conventions in Jefferson City. The Democratic platform was brief, and in substance was only an endorsement of the New Deal. That of the Republicans was lengthy and in substance was a denunciation of the New Deal.

The Republicans, by ignoring the issue of Pendergast boss control of the State and by postponing in their State Committee meeting the filling of the Supreme Court vacancy on their ticket, practically abandoned the campaign in so far as the 10-year term on the Supreme Court is concerned.

Following the defeat of Boss Pendergast in his attempt to nominate Judge James V. Billings over Judge James M. Douglas in the Democratic primary, it had been expected by the Democrats that the Republicans would make the issue of the State Senator Albert M. Clark for Supreme Judge the principal issue of the campaign.

Indirect Reference to Boss. Except for an indirect reference, Pendergast was ignored in the Republican platform, and the Democratic election frame in Kansas City were all but overlooked. The Republicans chose to make the New Deal the issue in the State campaign.

Action on filling the vacancy on the Republican ticket occasioned by the death of Judge William F. Frank was postponed until Sept. 28, which will be less than six weeks before the election.

Failure to make Pendergast an issue was attributed to the so-called arguments of Republican party leaders, who argued in the Platform Committee that if Pendergast and his followers were not antagonized the Republicans "might pick up a lot of votes of regular Democrats who were opposed to the New Deal."

One Reference to Vote Frauds. The only reference to election frauds, and indirectly to Pendergast, was in this one paragraph: "The crime against the ballot by the Democratic party which has been repeatedly charged, has been fully demonstrated by the Federal courts and recognized by the Governor of this State. This condition is not confined to Jackson County, where convictions have been had. Throughout the State analysis of the election returns shows that this party is still maintaining itself in power in many communities by casting ballots far beyond the normal proportion of registered voters to population. Through the vicious system it has been truthfully charged that sinister influence in this State seek to control not only every department in the State government but to befool the administration of justice, even to the Supreme Court."

The Republican platform planks embraced the following: Pledge to support legislation to improve standards of living. Extensive unemployment and low farm prices are due solely to the policies of the New Deal. Repeal of provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act curtailing farm acreage and production was demanded. Continuing low interest rates on farmers' indebtedness was approved. "Tinkering" with the currency was condemned.

Social Security Plank. Use of old-age pension and unemployment insurance funds for current Government expenses was condemned, as was the delay of the current Social Security Board in checking applications for old-age assistance. The proposed constitutional amendment advancing the old-age pension age from 70 to 65 was approved.

The W. P. A. was denounced as extremely costly, the cause of an unbalanced Federal budget, and as inadequate to take care of the unemployed. It was recommended that relief should be on a basis of Federal grant administered locally.

Labor Act Condemned. Protection of employees from long hours and starvation wages was favored in the labor and industry plank, but the National Labor Relations Act was condemned as unsuccessful. It was charged with responsibility for strikes and for fostering industrial war. A change was advocated in the law which would transfer judicial powers to the board to an independent tribunal, with appellate court jurisdiction to review the law and facts in every case.

Preparedness for defense was advocated, as was the taking of profits out of war and equipping its burdens. There was a recommendation for curbing the power of the President to make decisions in international affairs.

The participation of State Superintendent of Schools Lloyd W. King in the recent primary was denounced as putting the schools into politics. King publicly indorsed Judge Billings, the Pendergast candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court.

Full financing of the 1931 school program was recommended, and opposition was declared to compulsory consolidation of school districts. Adequate appropriations to place Lincoln University, the State higher educational school for Negroes, on a par with the State University was recommended.

Gasoline Tax Side-Stepped. The platform made no recommendation on the proposed increase of the gasoline tax to 3 cents a gallon, but it contained a recommendation for early completion of the farm-to-market highway system and for a continued aggressive highway program.

More jobs in public positions for Negroes were recommended. Federal taxes were declared to be burdensome, and additional New Deal taxes were held to be inevitable. It was asserted that under the present operation of the State government additional taxes of $30,000,000 a biennium would be required. It was said the carrying out of the present system would require a 4 per cent sales tax, or the doubling of the liquor, property, foreign insurance, corporate franchise and income taxes.

There was no suggestion for the elimination of social security activities, but the Republicans proposed to eliminate the necessity for higher taxes by "elimination of political spoils, duplication of functions, and profligate waste of public funds."

LONDON DECLARES
REPUBLICAN PARTY IS "ON WAY BACK"

"Going to Elect More Governors Than We Have Since 1930," He Says in Arkansas Speech.

DEMOCRATS URGED
TO VOTE FOR G. O. P.

President Looking for "Fall Guy" to Blame for Depression, He Asserts, in Comment on "Purge."

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 14.—Alfred M. Landon declared in a speech here last night that the Republican party was "on its way back."

The 1936 Republican presidential nominee was greeted by a roar of cheers as he entered the hall of the State Republican convention for his address, in which he urged Democrats to place "country above party" and vote the Republican ticket in November.

"I bring you good tidings," he said. "The Republican party is on the way back. We are going to elect more Republican governors in 1938 than we have since 1930."

In his speech, the closing feature of the convention, which was delivered to a mass meeting in City Park, Landon declared:

"Hitler, about the high command of the Nazis in Germany—whatever he says is right."

"Hill Roosevelt," about the New Dealers, wrapping themselves in their robes of false liberalism—whatever he says is right."

Following his speech Landon declined comment on the Tyding victory in the Maryland Democratic primary, an event which was hailed by Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican National Committee as the "New Deal is through."

The State convention asked for the support of conservative Arkansas Democrats and nominated C. D. Atkinson, a 60-year-old lawyer, to oppose Senator Hattie W. Caraway, Democratic nominee.

It also nominated Charles D. Cole Jr., former Mayor of Batesville, to oppose Gov. Carl E. Bailey, Democratic nominee, and Dr. Walter S. McNutt, an independent.

Landon's appeal to Democrats to forget party lines was apparently in reply to President Roosevelt's statement in a press conference Sept. 2 that "the good of the country rises above the party."

His Convention Speech. "The great Democratic party is being broken up by the President's methods of leadership. . . . Therefore, every Democrat who believes in the traditions of his party and his country will, of course, strive to rescue his party from the dangers of one-man rule."

"If that fails, I am sure such citizens will place country above party. They will vote for Republican candidates, not as members of the Republican party, but as the only means of voicing their protest against one-man, one-party government."

President Roosevelt said at his news conference that "it is a good liberal running on the Republican ticket, I wouldn't have the slightest objection to his election."

Landon's speech was broadcast over a nation-wide hookup. The former Kansas Governor urged that the Republicans strengthen themselves as an opposition party—one that "will develop the mistakes of an administration's policies before they are written into legislation."

Looking for New "Fall Guy." "We are now going through one of the most severe and the sharpest depressions of our history," he said. "Now the President is looking for a new 'fall guy' on whom to put the blame for this serious plight. It is obvious he can't make the corporate guard of Republicans in Congress responsible. . . . He can't continue to lay all his failures on big business; therefore, he is seeking to make some of his fellow Democrats take the rap."

"It would seem no Republican should object to the President's plans for remaking the Democratic party. But, as a practical question of government, it is of interest to every citizen."

Landon asserted that the President, "in breaking up the Democratic party, is destroying a responsible political force" and eventually will "destroy the potential, stabilizing influence of a political party."

"Discrimination Against South." "We face a real and impending danger," he said, "unless the minority party, the Republican party, gathers sufficient strength to provide this balance. It is evident that the Republican party, after fighting a war to keep the South in the union, unhappily for the nation."

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Swedish motorship Nippon, 6000 tons, sank three miles off Waddenslaar Lightship after a collision with the French steamer Alsne, 3854 tons, the Lloyd's agent in Flushing, The Netherlands, reported today.

The Alsne arrived off Flushing with its stern seriously damaged.

Pay Award to Mexican Oil Workers. By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 14.—An attachment verdict for 250,000 pesos ($50,000) against 17 British and American oil companies whose properties were expropriated last March was given today by the Mexican Labor Board. The amount to be deducted from indemnities the Government is to pay for the expropriated properties, was held due to workers as part wages for days they were idle during the strike preceding the expropriation.

CONTEST IN CONNECTICUT
CONVENTION ON SENATOR

Keynote Says Democratic Party Is Always Open to Differences of Opinion.

By the Associated Press.

GROTON, Conn., Sept. 14.—A fight over the New Deal issue raised by opponents of Senator Augustine Lonergan was in prospect today in the Democratic State convention.

As leaders cautioned against factional differences that might impair chances of an election victory, the delegates took up the task of nominating a State ticket and candidates for Senator and Congressmen-at-large.

The convention opened last night amid threats of contests for several high posts including the United States Senator and Lieutenant-Governor nominations. Gov. Wilbur L. Cross was unopposed.

United States Senator Francis T. Maloney told the convention in his keynote address that the party always was open to sincere differences of opinion.

Maloney is leading the forces fighting for the renomination of Lonergan against rivals who questioned the latter's loyalty to President Roosevelt.

A. F. L. OFFICER URGES UNION MEN TO BUY UNION GOODS

Says Labor Has Responsibility to Protect Employer Who Pays Scale From Unfair Competition.

By the Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 14.—Union labor has a responsibility toward the manufacturer whose products come from a unionized plant, I. M. Ornburn, union labor officer of the American Federation of Labor, told the International Typographical Union convention yesterday.

"We should see that our union-earned dollars are used to purchase products of a unionized manufacturer," said Ornburn, secretary of the union label trades department, "and protect from unfair competition the employer who is willing to pay union wages."

Jonathan Eddy, executive vice-president of the American Newspaper Guild, told delegates lack of machinery for co-operation between the Guild and the Typographical Union made it possible for interests outside the newspaper industry to make a foothold of the workers. Neither of the union groups can profit by hostility, Eddy said. The Guild is affiliated with the C. I. O., the printers with the A. F. of L.

S. CAROLINA TROOPS
GUARD BALLOT BOXES

Called Out on Complaint for Apparent Loser in Contest for Governorship.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 14.—Troops guarded ballot boxes in Charleston County, South Carolina, today after a heated campaign that resulted in Mayor Burnet R. Maybank of Charleston apparently winning the Democratic gubernatorial nomination over Wyndham M. Manning, Sumter County farmer.

Gov. Olin D. Johnston called out the National Guard last night at the request of Manning, who said he had received reports of voting irregularities in Charleston County. Unofficial returns from all but 21 of the State's 1505 precincts gave Manning, 147,432; Maybank, 161,172. New Deal issues were not involved in the runoff primary, which was equivalent to election.

Maybank said Manning's call for troops was evidence of desperate hope that defeat might be avoided in some extraordinary manner. Manning said in a public statement: "The result of the election is unknown to me at this time. I have protested the vote in Charleston County upon reports of irregularities there. I ask the public to await the result of this process."

Shortly after the troops impounded the ballot boxes, Sgt. William Michel of the Sumter Guard detachment was placed under temporary military arrest pending an inquiry into the shooting of W. L. Holliday, a bystander.

Capt. R. E. Johnson said that Michel's service pistol was discharged accidentally, sending a bullet through Holliday's thigh. Wendell E. Ackerman of Megett, near by, was struck by splinters of the American Federation of Labor, told the International Typographical Union convention yesterday.

"We should see that our union-earned dollars are used to purchase products of a unionized manufacturer," said Ornburn, secretary of the union label trades department, "and protect from unfair competition the employer who is willing to pay union wages."

Jonathan Eddy, executive vice-president of the American Newspaper Guild, told delegates lack of machinery for co-operation between the Guild and the Typographical Union made it possible for interests outside the newspaper industry to make a foothold of the workers. Neither of the union groups can profit by hostility, Eddy said. The Guild is affiliated with the C. I. O., the printers with the A. F. of L.

Complete returns from the Sixth District gave the nomination to John L. McMillan of Florence, for 14 years secretary to the late Representative A. H. Gasque. He defeated G. Lloyd Ford of Conway, a former district solicitor, by 27,088 to 25,041.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

View of Spain's Flight.

The article in Liberty Magazine of Sept. 10, 1938, about Spain, written by Dr. Gregorio Marañon, may help you to understand why unprejudiced people have chosen to side with Franco in preference to the Communists of Madrid and Barcelona. Dr. Marañon is a Spaniard who helped to found the Spanish Republic when Spain had a real Republic and you could walk the streets of any city with safety, no matter what views you held. The so-called Republic of today is a joke. All who can read and think for themselves realize that liberty, as we know it, does not exist in loyalist territory, just as it does not in Russia.

These Communists are not the people who overthrew the monarchial Government of Spain. Leaders like Dr. Marañon and Franco were the ones who established the Republic, but the Communists, not satisfied with a real Republic, because they were not the leaders, forced out the republicans and brought about the present warfare.

Missouri and South Carolina.

The big bad wolf that your South Carolina correspondent has discovered (when he takes Missouri to the woodshed) is only a mote in his brother's eye. The State of Missouri gives every man and woman the right to vote; it gives all of its citizens equal educational facilities; it has no discriminatory laws denying any race the rights and immunities guaranteed by the Constitution. The politicians in Missouri do not sow the seeds of race hatred.

In order to explain his long absence from home, Judge Puffie is telling Mrs. Puffie that an oil well has been brought in on property he won in a poker game. Why doesn't the Judge have Two-gun Terry, with some "emergency fiction," sell this property to a dummy, then buy it in again and recell it?

In this way, Terry could make some money for Judge Puffie. What's wrong about it? Isn't that the way it is done nowadays?

The Greatest Four.

REGARDLESS of whether one prefers your list of four great novels to those selected by Thornton Wilder, they are NOT "The Four Greatest," as there can be but one greatest, but rather "The Greatest Four."

Hitler and the Czechs.

I SHOULD like to answer A. F. Tikvart's letter. What right have the Czechs to force their kind of freedom on $3,500,000 people? Hitler does not want a single Czech, nor does he want one inch of land which does not belong to Germany. He wants the Sudeten Germans to be with their motherland.

It is the desire of the Sudeten Germans to live with the present German Government, in spite of the fact, as you state it, that they would have no freedom, so why not let them do it? Why not let the Slovaks, the Hungarians, Rutenians, etc., live in their mother countries? All those people would like to be at home, where they belong. The Czechs have no right to claim them.

Museum vs. Auditorium.

It is remarkable that it should be necessary to spend $20,000 on a building so recently completed as our Municipal Auditorium.

Or is Mr. Darst entitled to use that much money on his pet project—money which will never benefit relief recipients—when everyone is howling about the Museum's expenditure of a lesser sum for an art object which no one has to pay to enjoy?

Preserve the Art Museum—almost the only free pleasure in fine things St. Louisans have!

CATHERINE L. HALL.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It was discouraging to read in the Post-Dispatch the other day that 100 Jews are entering this country from Germany every day. I have many friends who look for employment every day without success, yet these people enter the country and are immediately given jobs. It seems as if Secretary Hull should try to protect his own countrymen.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS.

DARK HOUR FOR THE CZECHS.

It appeared for a time that Britain and France had at last determined to halt Nazi aggression by telling Reichsfuhrer Hitler to keep his hands off Czechoslovakia. Now, however, it seems that their resolves have melted again, and that the Nazis are to be given their way in undermining the Czech Republic.

When disorders broke out in the Sudeten region after Hitler's climactic speech at Nurnberg, Prague took swift and drastic action. Martial law was proclaimed and the death sentence prescribed for disturbance of the peace. It was a determined effort by the Czech Government to maintain its authority in the border region, and to refute the Nazi charge that it is unable to keep order. Sudeten and German Nazis were, of course, infuriated by the imposition of martial law, and when Prague ignored the Henlein ultimatum that it be lifted within six hours, fuel was added to the flames.

The newest proposal, said to be backed by London and Paris, is for a plebiscite to be held in the region, to enable the Sudetens to vote on annexation to Germany. An international commission such as conducted the Saar plebiscite in 1935 would be in charge. Because Germans are heavily in the majority in the area, there would never be any doubt about the outcome. It would be the merest farce, and everyone—London, Paris, Hitler, Henlein and Prague—knows it.

The Czechs stand a few days ago such a plan would be wholly unacceptable to them. If they accept it now, it would be merely as the result of pressure by their supposed allies and friends. Hitler would have another addition to his conquests, again as the means of successful bluster and threat, and without striking a blow.

The Czech crisis illustrates perfectly the Nazi method of pressing demand after demand by means of ever-mounting threats. The Sudetens first wanted merely their "rights" within Czechoslovakia, Prague agreed. Then they demanded autonomy. This is conceded in the Government's new plan. Now that is not enough. Nothing but annexation to Germany will suffice.

The other Powers had two courses before them. One was to halt Hitler now, which might conceivably be done by a united front and a decisive attitude. The other was to let him go ahead, until he becomes so strong that his aggression can be stopped only at terrific cost, if at all. The apparent surrender on the Czech issue seems to indicate that the second course has prevailed.

KANSAS GOES GENEROUS, TOO.

Californians may be satisfied to wait till Thursday for their $30. Tuesday is the day in Kansas. A man in Kansas City across the State line has headed an organization to give every unemployed man over $5.25 as regularly as Tuesday comes down the sky. And the widows and orphans will not be forgotten. The widows will get $12.50, with an additional $2.50 for every dependent child.

Our princely Kansas's name is L. K. Adams. He has been in real estate. A winged spirit like his was bound to find such a business prosaic, and, you might say, of the earth, earthy. The altitudes of philanthropy beckoned him. Kansasans are to be happy.

Here, then, is the answer of Kansas to California's bid for generous fame. It is a pretty fine one, too. But what's the matter with Missouri? Of course we have produced Auditor, Forrest Smith's "Dear Pensioner" letter, which is, perhaps, the tenderest misdeed to be found in the current literature of largesse. But, in comparison with the proposals cited, our Auditor's solicitude is ignoble, chicken-feed stuff. Cannot Dr. Fuehrer Pendergast compile a program of stipends that will ring "Hell!" across the Ozarks?

CHEAPER BREAD.

The Associated Press yesterday carried the story that the bumper wheat crop and the lowered price has caused the 20-ounce loaf of bread to be reduced in the East from 12 to 10 cents. This is an old story in St. Louis. The price of bread here dropped six weeks ago, when the regular 10-cent loaf was increased in size from 17 to 20 ounces. As a matter of fact, most stores here now have on sale a lower-priced bread which can be bought at two 20-ounce loaves for 15 cents.

Little if any increase in consumption is to be expected from the reduced prices, but it is a concession which was the consumer. It would have been obviously unfair had the sharp drop in the price of wheat served merely to increase the baker's margin of profit. The processor too often pockets the difference when the cost of raw materials falls.

NEW SAFEGUARDS NEEDED.

Senator Morris Sheppard, as chairman of the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee, is perhaps in the best position of all the members of Congress to know the need for additional safeguards for primary elections. The nauseous facts of the fight between the state and Federal machines in Kentucky and Tennessee and the scarcely less disturbing revelations of the marshaling and making of public employees in a half-dozen other state primaries have been paraded under his politically experienced eyes.

As a result, Senator Sheppard is convinced of the desirability of extending the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, now applying only to general elections, to include party primaries in which nominations to Federal office are at stake.

Such a law was passed by Congress in 1910, but was voided by the 5-to-4 decision of the United States Supreme Court after the attempt to enforce it in the notorious Newberry case in Michigan. In the intervening time, the complexion of the Supreme Court has changed and the need for such a law has become more manifest. It is reasonable to believe that such a law might now be sustained.

State laws regulating the primaries are patently inadequate. The legal allowance for a candidate's expenses ranges from $1000 to $2000 in six Western states to an unlimited amount in 11 other states. State Legislatures could not, if they would, enact laws to prevent the raising of campaign funds among Federal employees. Most of them have no effective statutes against forcing gifts from state employees.

The Federal Government clearly has the same interest in assuring the honesty of both primary and general elections. There is no real difference between the two in principle, when both have to do with determining who shall occupy Federal office.

The Corrupt Practices Act, in an extension to cover the primaries, should be amended to forbid, in unmistakable language, the use of Federal funds for the purpose of influencing votes in any election, primary or general. Special attention should be given to protecting relief clients and WPA employees from political pressure. Bidding for votes with private or public funds alike should be placed outside the law. It is no overstatement to assert that the safety of our democratic form of government demands an end to such perversions of the election machinery as have occurred in a number of states this summer.

TELEPHONES AND THE HANDBOOK RACKET.

An interesting phase of the handbook racket in St. Louis is that it is made possible by the use of the facilities of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Last year Harry McBride, secretary of the company, had what must have been a most embarrassing moment. He was foreman of a grand jury considering the racket and, during the discussion, the Circuit Attorney said to McBride: "I'll tell you how you can stop the bookmakers: tear out their telephones."

This solution, needless to say, was not adopted. It is the telephone company's contention that to deny service to bookmakers is a discrimination which might be the beginning of a censorship with possible serious consequences. At this point, some innocent citizen might rise to inquire, "What serious consequences?" The company, however, says it has a standing offer to remove a telephone if any law enforcement official will call to its attention that the instrument is being used for illegal purposes—provided the official will take the responsibility for closing the place.

As matters stand in St. Louis, with Bev Brown and Gully Owen boosing the politicians, and with law enforcement officials doing the Alphonse and Gaston act whenever anyone suggests so shocking a thing as running out the bookmakers, this position of the telephone company is just dandy for everyone concerned. One unexplained matter, though, is why the Circuit Attorney's suggestion to the McBride grand jury did not have the effect of putting the offer into operation.

In that instance, a law enforcement official did call the attention of an officer of the company, who was also a grand juror, to the fact that telephones were being used illegally—but nothing happened except that the attention-calling was duly placed in the minutes of the meeting. Neither the Circuit Attorney nor Mr. McBride seemed eager to grab the bait. Now, we trust no one harbors the horrid suspicion that the telephone company's interest in its profits on bookie telephones has anything to do with it, or that the telephone company would be influenced by the fact that the Nationwide News Service (a racing service) is the sixth largest customer of its Long Lines Department.

NOT GUILTY.

There is one charge that cannot be leveled against the current St. Louis grand jury, which has just been impaneled by Judge Scott and has decided not to look into the Dickmann affair "at present." It cannot be accused of being one of those run-away juries.

Chicago has a pitcher named Clay Bryant who seems to be winning all his games. Feats of Clay, would you say?

LEGALLY NON-EXISTENT.

As the curtain falls on the 1938 primary election vote fraud cases, a neat problem in metaphysics is posed: When is a ballot not a ballot? The ballots, thousands of them, are still physically present on row after row of shelves in the Board of Election Commissioners' vault, yet for any practical purpose, the collection is invisible, non est, reduced to nothingness. For the State law and the Supreme Court hold the ballots to be "legally non-existent."

No matter that the palpable but non-existent ballots contain evidence of 100,000 felonies. No matter that they would furnish the basis for a long series of indictments, trials and prison terms. The law considers the ballots to be no longer of this world because, although one statute calls for their preservation, another directs that they be destroyed a year after being cast. Because "overwhelming evidence of corruption" was found by a grand jury, the real records weren't destroyed. That makes no difference. The law considers them ashes, and that's that.

So a gratuitous pardon is handed the vote thieves. Circuit Attorney Miller dismisses 130 cases charging fraud in the election. The effort to punish the perpetrators of "open and blatant fraud" (the grand jury speaking) ends because the evidence has vanished into empty air.

Another exercise in logic: Can the Election Commissioners now destroy all that waste paper that has already been interpreted out of existence?

New York has its Hines case, Chicago its State's Attorney Courtney, with his ax brigade, and St. Louis 250 handbook shops in full swing.

WHAT THE EASTERN SHORE THOUGHT ABOUT IT.

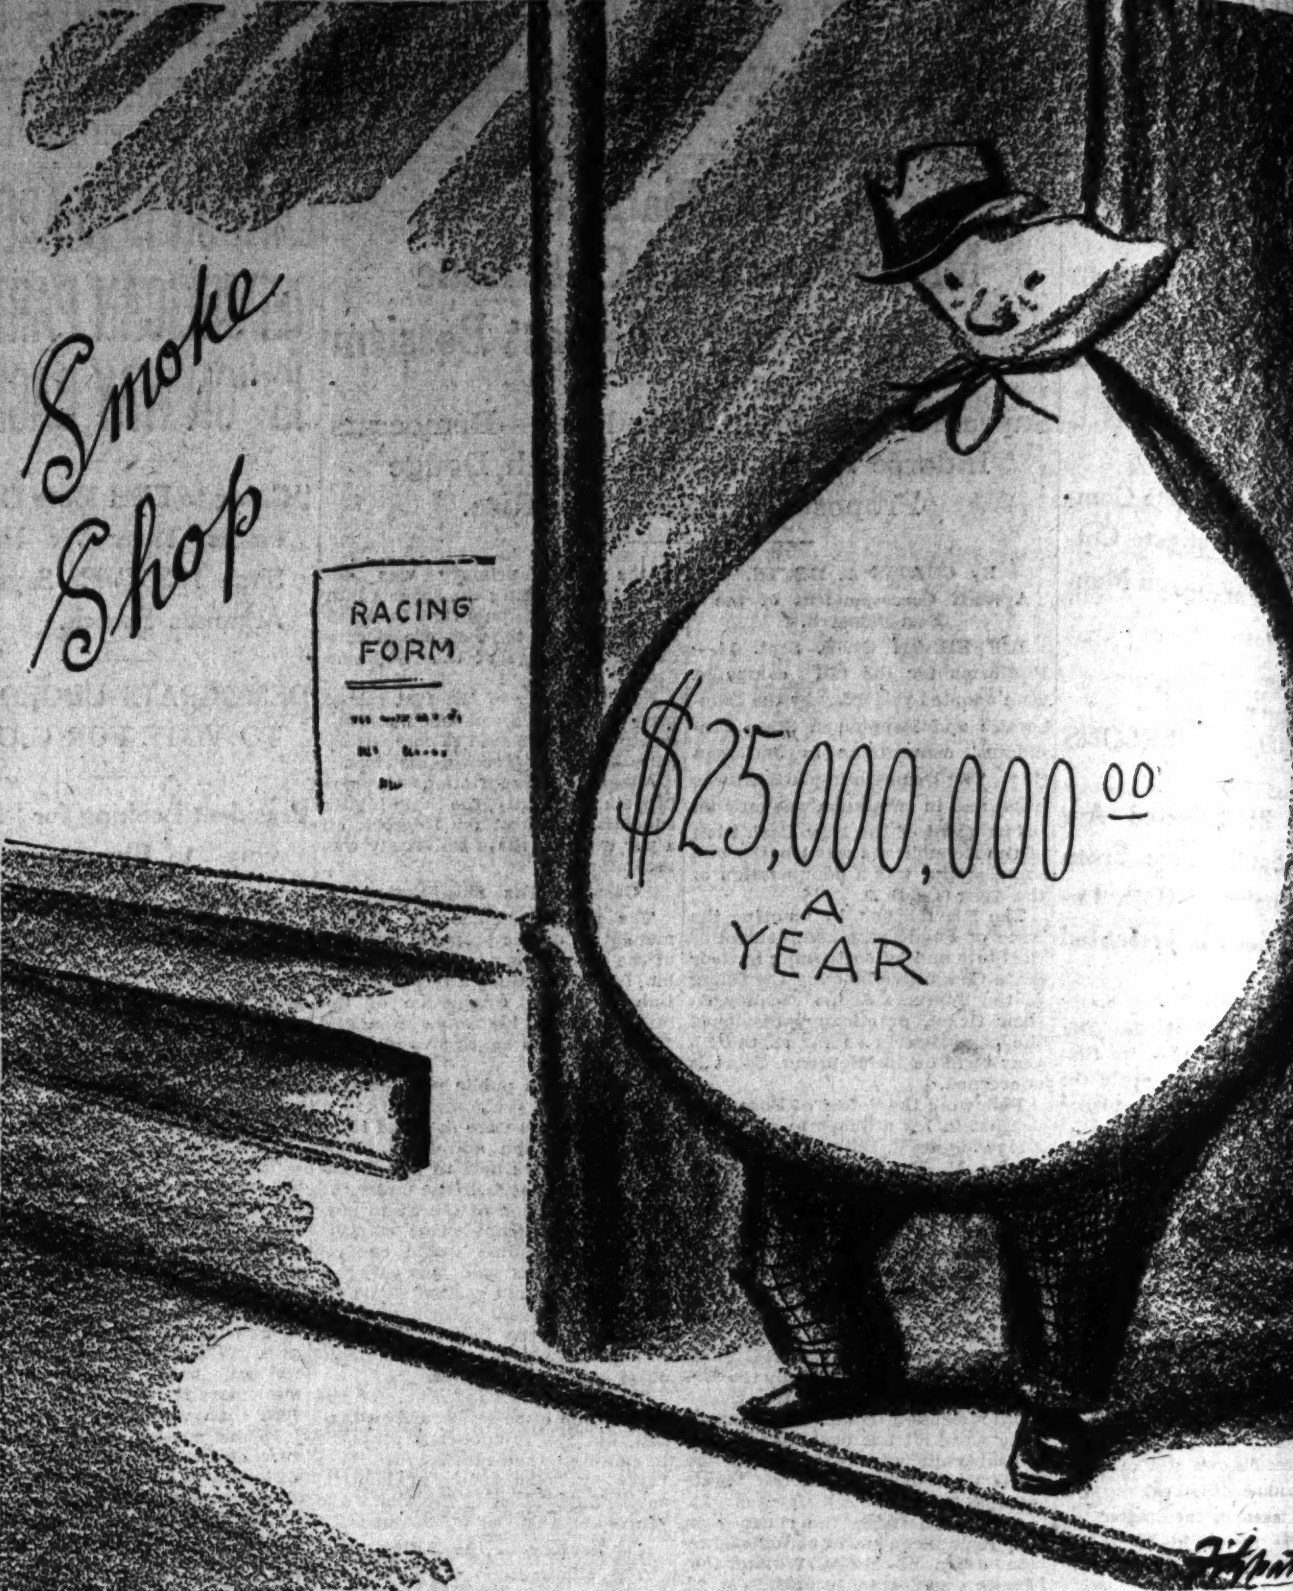

A survey by a Post-Dispatch correspondent of Maryland's Eastern Shore, where Mr. Roosevelt spoke recently in behalf of Representative Lewis, showed that the President's speech hurt rather than helped Mr. Lewis. "The almost unanimous feeling in this overwhelmingly Democratic region," wrote our correspondent, "was one of resentment at the presidential 'invasion'."

Mr. Roosevelt has been taught an interesting political lesson. Granting that he was animated only by a desire to prevent the election of those whom he regards as reactionaries, and granted further that some of the recent nominees have often shown themselves to be over-conservative and even reactionary, it appears that the American people do not like to be told by an already powerful President how to vote.

Mr. Roosevelt has been rebuked in the same fashion that Woodrow Wilson was rebuked in 1918, when he told the country he had to have a Democratic Congress. What he got was a Republican one. The moral seems to be that the President should be on guard against the old White House disease of getting drunk on popularity and of trying to reach out for too much power.

Party leadership is one thing, but when, as the voters see it, it approaches party domination, they don't like it. Regardless of all other considerations, this refusal to follow a popular leader, even in a direction they themselves may want to go, is a mighty wholesome thing in our democracy.

At Swarthmore College 15 years ago, three women were elected to Phi Beta Kappa to one man, while at the initiation last May there were two men to every woman. Great goodness, can the girls be slipping?

AND NO TAXES TO PAY.

When Labor and Employers Co-operate

Progressive unions and enlightened managements can work together to create greater efficiency and better working conditions, writer for industrialists' journal says; many worker groups, by studying factory problems, have proved valuable assets; co-operation brings results in collective bargaining and in freedom from strikes.

Charles B. Coates, Assistant Editor, in Factory Management and Maintenance.

ORGANIZED labor can, if it will, co-operate with employers in meeting management's problems. Some unions do help to cut costs, reduce waste and increase production.

Management can, if it will, utilize unions as a means to efficiency. Some employers do. Certain industries rely on unions to stabilize conditions. Certain cities have found industrial peace in union-backed public relations programs. Some surprising success has been achieved when progressive unions and managements get together.

Not long ago, an Eastern factory was about to close. To the worried directors came a union delegation.

"Our research department has been studying the plant," they said. "We believe it can make money. Your layout is antiquated, your materials handling costly. There's a lot of waste motion. We'd be willing to cut wages until things improve."

The factory stayed open and prospered, saving the investment for the owners, the industry for the town and the jobs for the men.

By contrast, I recall a day when I sat in the office of one of the nation's foremost management men during a serious labor dispute. This manager was fair-minded, sincere. But he had competitive difficulties and he was dealing with a brand-new, headstrong, aggressive union. Its leaders were shop committeemen—bang-up organizers, fighters.

"But there isn't a man among them I could place above the grade of foreman," sighed the manager. "Not one who has any conception of industrial problems. We negotiate slowly, working out simple arithmetic painfully. Finally they see my point. But all they can remember later is that they promised the men they would get them such-and-such—or else!"

This employer deserves a different sort of union to deal with, one far removed from the days when ham-fisted "delegates" roused their cohorts with stentorian bellows to battle with equally primitive bosses in a finish fight for spoils.

However, he hasn't lost his faith in the labor movement. He's far from blind to the greedy racketeers you find in some sections and the reckless firebrands in others.

"But the rank and file is sane," he says. "And some leaders are real executives. Just now the fighting line is on top, but soon the call will be for administrators. Genuine win wars; peace requires statesmanship. More generals or more statesmen? That's partly up to the management."

Unfortunately, state and national labor boards are synthetic substitutes for the one brand of lubrication that will really free the friction-loaded bearings of industry. And that is employer-employee co-operation, based on recognition of the principle that labor and management have a joint obligation to help competitive industry serve its first master—the consumer.

"Co-operation" is a noble word, but let's define it. Well, the employer, in a mood of true-blue co-operation, not only sympathizes with labor's aims, but also works actively to achieve them, solely as a matter of good management. The co-operative union, mean-

In the Sudeten Cockpit

Books in the News

HOW does it happen that Czechoslovakia has within its borders a bloc of 3,500,000 Germans, some 22 per cent of its total population, whose grievances today exceed those of the most dangerous crisis since 1918?

The Sudetens were handed over to the new Czech Republic by the treaty made at Versailles. It was not, however, purely an arbitrary or venal decision. Both strategic and economic needs justified keeping the historic boundaries of the province from which the new nation was carved.

All this is explained in detail, together with much more background material, in "Czechs and Germans," written by Elizabeth Wiskemann, a British investigator, sponsored by the Royal Institute of International Affairs (Oxford University Press, New York). The writer maintains objectivity, and cannot be called pro-Czech. Nevertheless, the facts she brings out support Prague's present stand.

If the Sudetens complain now of being denied their rights, the Czechs had a greater ground for protest under the Hapsburg monarchy's rule. They were the minority and were considered inferior citizens. The Czech tongue was scornfully termed a "servant's language." Education, civil and employment privileges were restricted. Some Czech leaders were imprisoned and put to death.

It might have been expected that resentful Czech officials would take advantage of their opportunity after the war, when the tables were turned. The writer makes plain that they often rubbed the Germans the wrong way and bred fresh resentments. Masaryk, Benes and other leaders, however, strove sincerely for conciliation. Germans have benefited under the Czech land laws and relief provisions, which have been far better treated than minorities in Germany, Italy, Poland or elsewhere.

Before Hitler came to power, Reich Germans knew and cared little about the Sudetens. Intense Nazi propaganda now has fanned the two countries to a point perilously near explosion. Every incident five years back has been magnified by Nazi publicists, and incidents have been artificially created. The Czechs kept calm and made concessions, but to no avail, until all Europe fears the outcome.

Is a peaceable solution possible? Wiskemann is frankly pessimistic "so long as a racialistic nationalism is regarded as an absolute standard of good." Masaryk's manliness, the cement of a common principle which all races could respect, might be the problem. But in the present heated atmosphere, it seems that only pressure from other Powers can keep the peace.

"Triumph Over Pain" (Bobbs-Merrill Co., Indianapolis) Rene Fulop-Miller contains an exciting chronicle of mankind's long struggle with pain and its conquest by anesthesia. The writer, a Hungarian surgeon, known for a substantial list of books, including a biography of Rasputin, became interested in ether during a personal experience with pain. His book is a salute to one of his heroes, Dr. William Morton, who in 1846 used ether in surgery, saving a tooth in Boston.

BREDECK ASKS MORE FUNDS FOR PUBLIC HEALTH

Annual Report, He Calls "Purchasable Asset" and Cites 1937 Drop in Death Rate.

ST. LOUIS FOURTH IN LIST OF 13 CITIES

Decline in Fatalities From Tuberculosis, Heart Diseases and Pneumonia—Venereal Problem.

The annual report of Dr. Joseph Bredeck, Health Commissioner, dealing with public health as a "purchasable asset" and calling for increased expenditures, particularly for the control of tuberculosis and venereal diseases, was made public today.

With a death rate of 1347.7 per 100,000 estimated population, the report stated, St. Louis in 1937 had the fourth highest death rate of 13 American cities exceeding 500,000 population. However, the 1937 rate in St. Louis represented a decrease from the rate of 1448.2 in the calendar year of 1936, when the city had the highest among 11 cities. There were 11,545 deaths here last year, compared to 12,337 in 1936, and 14 live births in 1937 as against 14,000 in 1936.

Deviating from the usual practice of commenting directly on the statistical side of the city's health, in this report, Dr. Bredeck confined his own statement to a broad outline of steps he said would be taken in the immediate future. The report, his fifth, he spoke of as a "quinquennial brain-stretching."

Per Capita Cost Now 73 Cents.

Five years ago, he said, the per capita expenditure for the Health Department for preventive work was 51 cents. Because of increased days for milk control and inspection of parochial schools, the per capita expenditure has advanced to 73 cents. In regard to milk control, he said:

"Justification of the expenditure for milk control is revealed by the fact that we now have a quality of milk unknown to this city in all its history. We have a milk supply which we can be proud of, and it is a quality which is saving lives. Passage of the European's most dangerous crisis since 1918, the outbreak of diphtheria, was averted. The public health achievements in this city are many."

The rate of diphtheria immunization, alone, he declared, would justify the increased budget allowance for the work being done in the city's schools. Dr. Bredeck said the capacity at Koch Hospital should be increased to 1000 beds, and that the health nursing staff should be increased to 1000 beds, and that the health nursing staff should be increased to 1000 beds.

In 1917, the tuberculosis death rate in St. Louis was 205 per 100,000. In 1937, it was 100 per 100,000. A record of 63.8 per 100,000—up from 138.2," he said. "If we had done nothing about the disease, we could have had at least 1187 more deaths in 1937."

Life and Death, in Dollars. It is rather odd to attempt to put a value on human life and suffering. In terms of $5000 (value per human life) this represents a saving of $5,000,000 more than $5,000,000.

Furthermore, at the rate of $100 per funeral, it would have cost $1,180 in addition. The cost of a funeral is slightly below the cost of maintaining Koch Hospital. The increased death capacity, when the tables were turned, would have demonstrated a marked reduction in the tuberculosis death rate. The tuberculosis deaths here have earned dividends far beyond what we reasonably could have expected."

Dr. Bredeck spoke of the control of venereal diseases as "Major Public Health Problem No. 2." He advocated adoption of a satisfactory financing, declaring the cost of the program would be less than the amount spent for tuberculosis control, and that results would fully justify expenditures.

He urged attention to environmental sanitation. Dr. Bredeck said, "We have better control of eating establishments and housing conditions than we have had in the past. He urged appropriations to carry out the ordinances providing for municipal hauling of ashes and rubbish."

Favors Housing Study. He remarked that the low and medium income groups could be housed properly and more economically in a city than in outlying areas, and suggested a start on a long-range study of housing.

"It is a serious and a big problem that will require careful investigation and constant yearly expenditures," he said.

Venereal Problem.

The annual report of Dr. Joseph Bredeck, Health Commissioner, dealing with public health as a "purchasable asset" and calling for increased expenditures, particularly for the control of tuberculosis and venereal diseases, was made public today.

Devoting from the usual practice of commenting directly on the statistical side of the city's health, Dr. Bredeck confined his own statement to a broad outline of steps he said should be taken in the immediate future. The report, his fifth, he said, is a "quintessential brain-pan."

Per Capita Cost Now 73 Cents.

For years ago, he said, the per capita expenditure for the Health Department for preventive work was $1.51. Because of increased expenditures for milk control and inspection of parochial schools, the per capita expenditure has advanced to 73 cents. In regard to milk control, he said:

"Justification of the expenditure for milk control is revealed by the fact that we now have a quality of milk unknown to this city in all its history. We have a milk supply that we can be proud of, and it is available to all. Passage of the ordinance and the personnel stand out as milestones in the city's health achievements in this field."

The rate of diphtheria immunization, alone, he declared, would justify the increased budget allowance for work being done in parochial schools. Turning to venereal diseases, Dr. Bredeck said the incidence of these diseases in 1937 was 14,000. All of the gain made by this disease, the report stated, was in deaths of men. A slight decrease in cancer deaths among women was recorded. The largest increase in types of cancer was that of the respiratory system, which resulted in 14 deaths in 1937, as compared to 8 in 1936.

A total of 138 persons died of syphilis in 1937, a decline of 19 from 1936, and the report said, the first notable drop in five years. Some of the other principal causes of death in 1937 were chronic nephritis, 107; cerebral hemorrhage, 68; diabetes, 248; epidemic encephalitis, 107; appendicitis, 116; cirrhosis of the liver, 167; influenza, 102; diphtheria, 27; accident, excluding suicide and homicide, 703; automobile accidents, all forms, 193; heart, 12; homicide 85 and suicide 182.

There was an increase of 100 in encephalitis deaths, the total being highest for any year since 1933. Suicides increased 22 over the 1936 total, while homicides dropped four. There was a gain of 24 in automobile deaths, but other forms of accidental deaths declined about 400.

The three cities which topped the St. Louis death rate were New York, 13.5, and Boston, 14.4. Detroit was lowest in the 13 cities, with a rate of 8.6 per 1000.

Criticism of City Hospital.

In a sectional report, Dr. J. Earl Smith, epidemiologist, remarked that "reporting of communicable and other reportable diseases by City Hospital No. 1 is very bad." Continuing, he said: "As a general rule these cases are reported to us very late, sometimes one or two months after the cases have been diagnosed. The hospital has provided no facilities for the reporting of communicable and other reportable diseases."

Favors Housing Study.

He remarked that the low and human income groups could be better housed and more economically in the city than in outlying areas, and suggested a study of housing. "It is a serious and a big problem that will require careful investigation and constant yearly examination," he said.

In the section of the report devoted to vital statistics, the employment of a special investigator was recommended. The investigator's work, the report stated, would be to investigate and prosecute cases of child labor and quackery, so

By the Associated Press.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 14. —Ellen Wilson McAdoo, 23-year-old daughter of United States Senator William G. McAdoo and granddaughter of the late President Woodrow Wilson, was married here last night to William Alfred Hinchshaw, Kansas City Symphony Orchestra musician.

The bride was given away by her father and was attended by Faith McAdoo, her younger sister, and Maxine Hinchshaw, sister of the bridegroom. The bride's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo, divorced wife of the Senator, occupied a front pew. It was the second marriage for Miss McAdoo. She was formerly the wife of Rafael Lopez de Onate, movie actor, from whom she was divorced in April, 1937.

SCHOOL BOARD CALLS EXPERT ON SURVEY

Dr. eGeorge D. Strayer of Columbia U. to Attend Conference Friday.

An invitation to Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia University, New York, to come here soon for a conference on the proposed general survey of the public school system was voted last night by the Board of Education. The board desired to learn how the inquiry would be made, its cost and other details before employing a surveyor.

Dr. Strayer notified the Post-Dispatch today, in response to inquiry, that he would meet the board here at 4 p. m. Friday.

Engagement of Dr. Strayer, an authority in this field, was recommended to the board several months ago by an advisory committee of leaders of the American Association of School Administrators. The board has voted in favor of having a survey.

Last night's vote to confer with Dr. Strayer was 7 to 2, with John J. Sheahan and Dr. David C. Todd opposing and Richard Murphy not voting.

Decision of Committee.

The decision really was reached earlier in the day at a meeting of the board's Survey Committee attended by nine board members. At that time Superintendent of Instruction Henry J. Gerling called attention to the advisory committee's suggestion that finances of the survey be handled by some agency other than the survey staff. The superintendent questioned the legality and wisdom of this; board members pointed out that it was not essential to the plan. The meeting also questioned the desirability of outside board of consultants recommended by the advisory group.

Dr. Gerling reported that Dr. Strayer, if employed, would not profit, as the compensation would go to his division of the university. He said Dr. Strayer, as surveyor, would confer with the board and with interested citizen groups. James J. Fitzgerald expressed satisfaction with Dr. Strayer, saying he would prefer to engage some one other than an educator. President Edward A. Ferrenbach, argued for a different type of survey, calling in experts in each field of the board's activities. Murphy declared he was against the survey.

Although a caucus last week was reported to have agreed on employment of James J. Lee as the board's Supply Commissioner at $7000 a year, demoting the incumbent, Charles Lee Barr, to an assistantship, the board voted unanimously last night to defer action until November. It is an educator, a protracted dinner caucus preceding the meeting that Lee's supporters were not in command of enough votes to elect him. It had been indicated, until recently at least, that a majority of the board favored Barr's retention.

A surprise move was made in an executive session of the board to adopt a permanent name for the high school at Kingshighway and Arsenal street, opened a year ago and temporarily designated "Southwest High." Mark D. Eagleton, president of the board, said the majority of the board favored the name of the high school.

A reception will be held afterward at the McAdams home for 200 guests. About 500 invitations to the church service will be issued. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Sanders, 8 Crestwood drive.

Mr. Karl Morgan Block, 6340 Ellsworth, and his daughter, Miss Virginia, arrived home yesterday from Rye Beach, N. H., where they spent the season at their summer home. The Rev. Dr. Block preceded them here. The family will leave for a short visit to San Francisco where Dr. Block is to be Episcopal coadjutor bishop of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Clark, 4905 Pershing avenue, will return next week from a short visit to New York, where they landed recently after a visit to Europe.

The wedding of Miss Eleanor Crenshaw Hodge, daughter of Mrs. Hugh Bayard Hodge of Germantown, Pa., and Dr. Frederick H. Pough of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Pough, 4 Lenox place, will take place Friday, Oct. 14, at the Episcopal Church of North Haven, Conn., where the prospective bride's brother is rector. It will be an afternoon wedding, attended only by the two families. Harold Beckler Pough of Philadelphia will attend his brother as best man. After the wedding, the pair will leave for a honeymoon.

Visits Former Classmate

THE engagement of Miss Mary Jane Siegel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph William Siegel, 7102 Brylind terrace, and Walter Julius Schluster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Schluster, 7928 Teasdale court, was announced today at a luncheon given at the Missouri Athletic Club by Mrs. Siegel. The wedding will take place early next year.

Twenty guests were seated at a table decorated with white pom-poms, pink roses, gardenias and blue larkspur. Surrounding the centerpiece were corsage bouquets of gardenias and sweetheart roses for the guests. More corsage bouquets spilled from white cornucopias at either end of the table. Concealed in the bouquets at the guests' places were rolls of paper on which were written the names of Miss Siegel and her fiancé.

Miss Siegel was graduated from Mary Institute in the class of 1936, and attended Washington University, where she became a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She is the granddaughter of the late Alfred J. Siegel and Mrs. Siegel of the Park Plaza, and the late Albert B. Groves and Mrs. Groves, 5410 Maple avenue. Mr. Schluster was graduated from Washington University. He belongs to Sigma Nu fraternity.

Guests at the luncheon were: Miss Susanna Siegel, sister of the bride-elect; Mrs. Richard Vernon Clark Jr., Mrs. Joseph Medwick, Miss Patricia Tilt, Miss Helen Cornwell, Miss Sara Jane Avant, Miss Betty Graham, Miss Beverly Schluster and her sister, Miss Inez, and Miss Violet Schluster, cousins of the bridegroom-to-be. Mrs. Groves, Miss Siegel's grandmother; her aunts, Miss Phyllis Groves, Mrs. George E. Groves and Mrs. Roy R. Siegel; Mrs. Walter H. Schluster, the prospective bridegroom's mother; and his aunts, Mrs. Richard W. Schluster, Mrs. Herbert Schluster and Mrs. Clifford A. Schluster.

Many members of the St. Louis summer colony at Grand Haven, Mich., have returned home. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hawes, 4948 Maryland avenue, returned yesterday, as did Mr. and Mrs. Preston B. Postlethwaite of the Edge-wood road. Mrs. Charles K. Colman, 151 North Clay avenue, Ferguson, returned today with her baby and her sister, Miss Martha Ann Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Day, 2 North Clay avenue, Ferguson.

Mrs. A. E. White, 325 Westgate avenue, returned yesterday. Miss Elsie, will close their cottage this week and arrive in St. Louis Sunday. Mr. White preceded them. Mrs. Samuel A. Mitchell, 6 Windsor place, and her daughter, Miss Nancy, are still in Grand Haven, although Mr. Mitchell has returned to St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Pangman, 4664 Pershing avenue, arrived home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Schaffly, 374 Westchester, who are motoring through Northern Michigan and Canada. They are expected home in about a week.

Miss Angela McFadden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McFadden, 4 Ridgemoor drive, has chosen Tuesday, Oct. 25, as the date for her marriage to Edward Francis Sanders. The ceremony will take place at 9:30 o'clock in the morning at the Lady of Lourdes Church with the Rev. Francis J. O'Connor and the Rev. Charles Imbs, S. J., uncle of the bride-elect, officiating.

A reception will be held afterward at the McFadden home for 200 guests. About 500 invitations to the church service will be issued. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Sanders, 8 Crestwood drive.

Mr. Karl Morgan Block, 6340 Ellsworth, and his daughter, Miss Virginia, arrived home yesterday from Rye Beach, N. H., where they spent the season at their summer home. The Rev. MISS BETTY JOE KOEHLER, of Lincoln, Neb., who is here as the guest of a former classmate at Wellesley College, Miss Marian Blanke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Blanke, 22 Southmoor.

Bermuda honeymoon, and will live in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Pough and their daughter, Miss Marian, will attend the wedding from St. Louis, and another son, Richard Hooper Pough, also of New York, will be present. Mrs. Pough and her daughter have recently returned from Glacier National Park, where they spent the month of August.

Miss Elizabeth Lashly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob M. Lashly, 20 Windermere place, will be hostess at a shower and tea Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in honor of Miss Jeanette Lichtenstein. Miss Lichtenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Lichtenstein, 62 Lake Forest, will be married to Bert A. Lynne Jr. Saturday, Sept. 24. Another party in honor of Miss Lichtenstein will be given Monday, Sept. 19, by Mrs. Henry Edgar Kelley Jr., 7577 Buckingham drive.

Miss Lashly will leave tomorrow for Chicago, where she will stop overnight with Miss Caroline Roberts, then go to Ada, O., with her fiancé, John J. States of Evanston, Ill., to spend the week-end with his mother, Mrs. J. L. Runser. Miss Roberts will be a bridesmaid at the wedding, Oct. 29, of Miss Lashly and Mr. States.

Miss Martha Dial Hogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jerome Hogan, 340 West Argonne drive, Kirkwood, has chosen Tuesday, Oct. 4, as the date for her marriage to Richard S. Degelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Degelman, 1138 South Geyer road, Kirkwood.

The ceremony will take place at 10 o'clock in the morning at St. Peter's Church in Kirkwood, and two uncles of the bridegroom-elect will officiate, the Rev. Francis Degelman, S. J., of Clayton University, Omaha, Neb.; and the Rev. George Degelman, S. J., dean of Rockhurst College, Kansas City, Mo.

A wedding breakfast for members of the two families will be given at the Hogan home.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Ellen King Hogan, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Curtis E. Singleton Jr., matron of honor. Best man will be John M. Storm, and Mr. Singleton will act as groomsmen. John D. Hogan, the prospective bride's brother, and Edwin J. Stith will be ushers.

Mrs. Singleton will entertain Miss Hogan at a luncheon Saturday at Algonquin Country Club.

Mrs. Charles A. Stuever, 7018 Linden boulevard, and her daughter, Miss Emma Lucy Stuever, have arrived at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where they will remain until late in September.

land place, Miss Ann Kelly and William McBride Love, left White Sulphur Monday for New York for a visit, before returning home.

Miss Gertrude Margaret McLain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. McLain, 7220 St. Andrews road, has selected Monday, Sept. 19, as the date of her marriage to John R. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Johnson Jr., 3730 Kingsbury boulevard.

The ceremony will take place at 9:30 o'clock in the morning at St. Ann's Church, Normandy, with the Rev. Peter Forbes officiating. Miss Louise Schmucker will be maid of honor and Miss Irene Johnson, sister of the prospective bridegroom, and Miss Mary Jane Chaplain will be bridesmaids. Mary Ann McSkimming, young cousin of the bride-elect, will be junior bridesmaid. Miss McLain's brother, Joseph C. McLain Jr., will be best man. Edward P. O'Brien Jr. and Robert Winkler will be groomsmen, and Clarence Papendick and Dr. William Crenshaw will serve as ushers.

After the wedding there will be a breakfast in the French room of the Hotel Coronado. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Johnson Jr., 3730 Kingsbury boulevard.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Seidlitz, 6008 Chestnut avenue, departed last night for Des Moines, Ia., to attend the wedding of their granddaughter, Miss Elizabeth Allen, and Philip Kruidinier tomorrow. The ceremony will take place at 8:30 o'clock at night at St. Luke's Episcopal Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Allen of Des Moines. Mrs. Allen is the former Miss Margaret Seidlitz of St. Louis.

Informal receptions will be given tonight and tomorrow after 8 o'clock, by the Rev. and Mrs. Hampton Adams, at their home, 2 Windermere place, for members of Union Avenue Christian Church.

SURVEY OF GRAMMAR SCHOOL GRADUATES 30 PCT. COMPLETE

W F A Interviewers Have Figures on 3000 Who Left Classes in 1929, 1931 and 1933.

The survey of 10,000 St. Louisans who were graduated from grammar schools in 1929, 1931 and 1933, to determine how they have adjusted themselves to present economic conditions, is 30 per cent complete, it was announced today by the Survey of Youth in the Labor Market, a W F A activity.

Information is being compiled by 18 experienced interviewers. Results of the interviews are being edited, coded and tallied by 28 clerks. Eventually the information will be made available to agencies dealing with young people for their guidance. Directors of the undertaking, which is being matched in six smaller cities, have reported full co-operation from the Board of Education and the Catholic and Lutheran parochial schools.

There has been a major problem in finding many of the young men and women who have moved since leaving school. Interviewers have to trace them through neighborhood sources. In general, the inquiries have been well received. The survey officials have summarized the desire of youth as being, in most cases, for any kind of immediate work, for further education in specific fields and, finally, for economic security.

SYMPHONY SEASON TICKET SALE TO BEGIN THIS MONTH

$110,000 Worth Must Be Sold to Insure Success of 1938 Series of Concerts.

The annual season ticket sale campaign of the St. Louis Symphony Society will begin late this month, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the Board of Directors.

Mrs. M. Hayward Post, president of the society's Women's Association, said $110,000 worth of season tickets would have to be sold to insure success of the fifty-ninth season of the symphony orchestra's concerts.

For the campaign, St. Louis and St. Louis County will be divided into north, east, south and west districts. Work cannot be begun immediately, Mrs. Post said, because of the absence of many of the campaign workers from the city.

Texts of Missouri Republican And Democratic Party Platforms

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 14.—Following are the texts of the Republican and Democratic platforms adopted at the conventions yesterday:

REPUBLICAN

The Republican party of Missouri, in convention assembled in Jefferson City this thirteenth day of September, 1938, reaffirms its adherence to fundamentals.

"We declare loyalty to the American system and to the principles of freedom, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

"The Constitution distributes the powers of government among the departments of the Congress, the Presidency, and the Courts. We are prepared to fight again the battle for the independence of the Supreme Court, and to resist the encroachment of the executive upon the powers of the Congress.

"Republican State administrations originated limitation of hours of labor for women, the abolition of child labor, workmen's compensation, old-age pensions and other social reforms. A Republican administration first announced Federal aid in support of distressed agriculture and protection of homes. We pledge ourselves to continue to support all legislation that will truly improve the standards of living of the American people.

New Deal Called a Failure.

"After five and one-half years of absolute and undisputed control of our Government by the national administration, and after unprecedented expenditures and vast experimentation, prosperity has not been restored, 13,000,000 men and women are unemployed, and farm prices are far below the cost of production. This tragic state of affairs is due solely to the unsound policies of that New Deal administration.

"The primary responsibility for those policies rests upon the House of Representatives and the Senate of the United States, because what ever had been done or attempted to be done has been authorized by laws passed and appropriations made by Congress.

"It is intolerable that the American farmer be required to restrict his production of crops while at the same time foreign products are dumped upon the American market in competition with him. No trade advantage or adjustment secured by reciprocal treaties can compensate the farmer or industry for the loss of farm purchasing power occasioned by such imports.

"We believe in maintaining the American market for the American farmer by making the tariff the yardstick of fair home market prices and by making that tariff prohibitive of imports, if necessary.

"The American market must be protected against flooding from within as well as from without by preventing the dumping of the surplus upon the domestic market. Such control should be exercised by the farmers themselves, empowered by law.

Against Regimenting Farmers. "Any program of farm relief must leave the farmer a free man. We oppose any attempt to regiment him or to control his operations or production of crops. We favor the repeal of those provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933, intended to curtail farm acreage and production.

"The Republican party believes in continuing the low rate of interest on the farmer's indebtedness which the last session of Congress passed over the President's veto.

"We condemn the tinkering with our currency under the power now delegated by Congress to the President. This has created grave uncertainty and acted as a major contributing cause in the prolongation of the depression.

"We severely condemn the present national administration for diverting funds collected for old-age pensions and unemployment insurance under the Social Security Act and applying them to the current expenditures of Government. The Republican party denounces the maladministration of old-age assistance in this State. Attention is called to the fact that old-age assistance is the product of a Republican administration. Under the plan submitted to the people, it was proposed to spread the assistance of $30 a month to worthy thousands entitled to it.

"Under the present State administration thousands eligible have died and are dying while waiting to be investigated for enrollment. The vast majority of those certified have not been paid the back payments provided by law or, at the maximum, more than half the amount the law intended them to have. Millions of dollars have been diverted from the monies collected in the name of charity and have gone into the buying of land, the erection of public buildings, the increase by millions in appropriations to departments, until the cost of Government has virtually quadrupled since January, 1933.

"So flagrant and notorious has this administration been that the State of Missouri has been singled out by the national press as the outstanding example of the corrupt use of those public funds.

"We pledge ourselves to the immediate full payment of old-age assistance to every person in Missouri entitled to benefits under the law, and the reduction of the age limit to 65 years.

For Pay-as-You-Go Pensions. "We stand squarely on the conviction that there is no substitute for a self-respecting job, and the best unemployment insurance is a program which prevents unemployment. Unemployment will continue to be a major problem and a barrier to the restoration of prosperity, as long as business is subjected to continuous governmental assaults.

"The accumulation of a 47 billion dollar reserve as contemplated by the Federal Social Security Act is a perpetual invitation to the maintenance of an extravagant public debt. It results in transferring the burdens of the debt retirement from the general taxpayer to labor.

"We favor a pay-as-you-go plan, with earlier payment of benefits and an increased rate of pensions in the earlier years of operation. This can be accomplished while maintaining the present payroll tax of 2 per cent at least five years, and thereafter, until Congress finds an increase to be necessary.

"From the very outset the W. P. A. has never adequately taken care of the unemployed. It has also proved to be extremely costly and ineffectual. The principal cause of our unbalanced Federal budget, the morale of the recipients is not bolstered by the pretense that this is work, they are compelled to apply for relief to be certified as eligible for W. P. A. employment.

For Local Control of Relief. "We advocate that Federal participation in the relief program should be upon a grant basis, leaving the administration to the local committees, free of politics. The use of social dependents as tools of political machines is deplorable and is widespread in this State and throughout the nation.

"We oppose monopolies. We favor laws intended to prevent the exploitation of the unprotected poor by unscrupulous employers, either by long hours or starvation wages. We believe that employees must be guaranteed by law the right of self organization in trade unions of their own choosing and the right to engage in collective bargaining.

But the provisions of the wage-hour bill which allow a Federal administrator to destroy the natural differential and thus ruin entire markets by arbitrary discrimination is dangerous to workers and industries alike, particularly the smaller and more remote markets of the Midwest.

"The interests of labor and of society in general are identical. They should be to promote industrial peace and prosperity. Judged by such a test the National Labor Relations Act has not been successful. There were more strikes in 1937, after its passage, than in any other year. It has fostered industrial war, it has not established right relations between employers and employees. It has aroused hatred and ill feeling between labor organizations themselves. It has brought about a labor unrest and disturbance which in large measure has helped to plunge the country back again into depression and increased unemployment.

"The National Labor Relations Act should be amended so as to set up an administrative board which shall be required to do equal justice to all citizens, and to pursue equitable rules of procedure in determining where justice lies. It should be amended so as to transfer the purely judicial powers of the board to an independent tribunal, and to give an appellate court jurisdiction to review the facts and law in every case that the National Labor Relations Board shall have decided.

Adequate Defense Favored. "In a world of nations armed to the teeth, we favor adequate preparedness for defense. We condemn the evident disposition of international affairs to meddle in domestic affairs. Gruesome insults to some nations and entangling alliances with others should have no part in our national policy. America wants peace.

"We therefore oppose the delegation of additional power by Congress to the President to make personal decisions in international affairs. When domestic affairs are disturbed, there may be incentive to divert attention abroad, and the might result in war should never be vested in one man. As a further safeguard, we favor taking the profits out of war and equalizing its burdens.

"The Republican party favors taking the public schools out of partisan politics, and deplores the activity of the State Superintendent of Schools in the recent primary.

"We favor full educational opportunities for all the children of the State, and the financing of the 1931 school law 100 per cent, to the end that all school children be given an opportunity for their elementary and high school training which properly fits their needs in life, and the adequate financing of all State institutions of higher learning. This can be accomplished with present State taxes provided there is efficient administration of the tax-collecting agencies and economy is practiced in each State department.

Lincoln University. "We favor adequate appropriations for Lincoln University, bringing its educational standards up to those of the University of Missouri, and we favor a bi-partisan board for Lincoln University similar to that of the University of Missouri, with nine members, not more than five of whom are members of the same party.

"We oppose compulsory consolidation of racial districts, and believe that consolidation should be brought about by the residents of the districts affected.

"We point to the record of the Republican party for fairness and justice toward war veterans as the most eloquent evidence of our appreciation of their loyalty and service to the nation. We pledge a continuation of that policy.

"The Republican party offers opportunity to the youth of the nation. The New Deal offers no individual opportunity. It offers only the deplorable so-called mass security of permanent relief. Youth must be encouraged to go forward for a future America full of opportunity, limited only by individual initiative, ability and character. We appeal especially to the young people to join us in our fight to restore the opportunities which America can offer.

"The centennial bond law was passed under a Republican administration and over 70 per cent of our highway system was actually constructed during a Republican administration. We pledge to lift the farmer out of the mud by completion of the farm-to-market highway system at the earliest possible moment.

"Negro citizens should be accorded a larger and more equitable place in the business of government, city and State and Federal.

Against Increasing Tax Burden. "Each year since 1933 additional burdensome taxes have been levied by the Federal Government, and in spite of the largest revenue in history huge deficits continue. Under the present administration, our national debt has more than doubled. Additional burdensome New Deal taxes are inevitable.

"On the basis of the present operation of the State government and its estimated program for the next biennium, additional income of $30,000,000 will be required. Doubling a tax levy does not double income, for additional tax burdens dry up the source. Therefore, a tax of $30,000,000 additional will be necessary to operate the State government for the next biennium.

"This will require doubling of present sales tax to 4 per cent or doubling the liquor, county, foreign insurance company, corporate franchise and income taxes.

"We are opposed to these unreasonable increases of the tax burden, we propose to eliminate their necessity and ultimately reduce taxes by the elimination of political spoils, duplication of function and profligate waste of public funds as is practiced today by the Democratic party.

"The crime against the ballot by the Democratic party which we have repeatedly charged has been fully demonstrated by the Federal courts and recognized by the Governor of this State. This condition is not confined to Jackson County, where convictions have been had; throughout the State analysis of the election returns shows that this party is still maintaining itself in power in many communities by casting ballots far beyond the normal proportions of registered voters to population. Through this vicious system it has been truthfully charged that sinister influences in this State seek to control not only every department in the State government, but to befoul the administration of justice, even to the State Supreme Court.

"We favor a constitutional amendment eliminating identifying numbers on the ballot to insure absolute secrecy in voting.

Judicial Reform Advocated. "We believe that the relations of modern society demand reform of legal procedure, both civil and criminal, by expediting the operation of our courts. This will best be accomplished by authorizing our Supreme Court to control the formulation and amendment of procedural rules.

"It is imperative that more rigid supervision be exercised by the department of finance in the liquidation of the assets of closed banks.

"We favor the protection of the sovereign right of the several States in the conduct of their internal affairs. We oppose encroachment of the Federal Government into the affairs of Missouri and the use of its taxing power to dominate our State Legislature.

"We stand unalterably for the economy of abundance. We condemn any economy of scarcity. Prosperity is to be attained only by the ever-increasing production of wealth. Man must be free from fear of government and free from domination, either by government, class or group. It is a good government which encourages initiative and rewards accomplishment. We favor taking the Government out of competition with private enterprise.

"We speak as Americans, and we invite the co-operation and support of all other Americans in the preservation of American institutions under the ordered rule of equal laws; in the maintenance of government not of men, but of laws, and the defense of the rights, the opportunities and the liberties of a free people."

"We give the warmest endorsement to the candidacies of Senator Bennett Champ Clark for the United States Senate, of all the Democratic nominees for the national House of Representatives, of Albert M. Clark and James M. Douglas for the State Supreme Court, of Lloyd W. King for Superintendent of Schools and of all other nominees for the Democratic party.

"We pledge our candidates and each of them to a continuation of a government of progress, economy and efficiency."

"We urge the continuation of the policy of education and social improvement of the Negro citizens of the State.

"The Democratic party has been the pioneer of progress. Our party initiated the building of good roads, therefore we urge the continuation of our adherence to that sound policy and advocate the extension and improvement of our State highway system.

"We are in full sympathy and accord with the efforts of labor to better conditions of the working men and women of our country. We endorse the principle of collective bargaining by representatives of labor's own choosing.

Investigation by Officials at Manila.
MANILA, Sept. 14.—A garbled message indicating pieces of wreckage from the Hawaii Clipper had been found in the Eastern Philippines prompted Government officials to investigate today.
No authenticated trace of the trans-Pacific flying boat has been found since it disappeared July with 15 men on a flight from Guam to Manila.
Postoffice officials said a telegram from Malaga, on Spanish Island, indicated wreckage of the clipper had been found west of Samar. The blipper was about 100 miles east of Samar when it sent its last radio message.
Watchman Hit by Train
David Offard, of Moselle, Mo., who lost his right leg when struck by a train near Moselle, Sunday, died today at the Frisco Hospital.
4900 Laclede avenue. Offard, 52 years old, was a private watchman.

Along The Potomac

By HARLAN MILLER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. BIG EARS: So tense has the war talk made the cafe diplomats that some lower their voices lest the foreign-looking waiters overhear. . . . This is slightly laughable; by the best guesses, there aren't more than 15 or 20 spies in the hotels, restaurants and clubs here. . . . And what a lot of tripe they must turn in!

SHE POSED WITH THE MOVIE STARS.

FOR HIS SEMIOFFICIAL correspondence, F. D. R. uses a large pale-green folded double sheet of paper with "The White House" and "Washington" in the upper left-hand corner. The typewriting is blue, the signature dark blue. On the envelope there's "The White House" in the upper left-hand corner; and it carries a postage stamp, though it might go free.

RED TAPE FESTOONS: Probably the most precise English in the land is that written by veteran bureaucrats. They avoid overemphasis or understatement; their lingo is dispassionate; they even look in the dictionary for the word that conveys the exact shade of meaning warranted by the statute. . . . And any veteran official will tell you that the only alternatives to red tape are anarchy or tyranny.

SPECIAL VISITORS are taken occasionally into Vice-President Garner's office off the Senate Chamber, and most of them usually espy a large number of rings from drinking glasses which mar the polished surface of his desk.

But these rings aren't what the guests usually suspect. When Gen. Dawes was Vice-President he drank great quantities of buttermilk at lunch, and the acid in the buttermilk ate into the varnish of the desk. Garner, of course, is no buttermilk addict.

WHEN MISS MARGUERITE LE HAND, the President's personal secretary, visited the movie studios in Hollywood recently, she was induced to pose for separate pictures with Robert Montgomery, Spencer Tracy and Robert Taylor.

"Smile up at him as if you were fascinated," the movie masterminds coaxed, in each case.

I have examined the resultant photographs. She's giving Montgomery and Tracy each a rapt smile, as if she meant it. But her smile at Robert Taylor isn't quite convincing. Maybe she wasn't fascinated?

WHEN YOU GO through the White House next time you'll notice that the glass bangles on the chandeliers are rigidly fixed so they won't jangle when a wind blows through the windows. . . . This jangling got so much on Teddy Roosevelt's nerves when he lived at the White House that he had them taken out and several now hang in the Capitol, where they don't bother, for example, the nerves of Col. Edwin Alexander Halsey, urban secretary of the Senate, who has one in his office. You never thought of Teddy as a nervous type, eh?

Energists : : : By Elsie Robinson

SICK of yourself, sister? Feel you're shelved for keeps? Then get that September issue of Harper's Bazaar, and cast your eye over as brave and blithe a bit of writing as ever was done for the lass whose ears are dragging and whose pride is all set for a rummage sale. "The Energists"—that's what Esther Arthur calls her article—which is merely another name for those Galvanic Gals who've so often set history to swiveling in these United States and left the mark of their Goggetem Tempo on the American character. Beginning, of course, with that No. 1 Energizer—Eleanor Roosevelt.

But Mistress Eleanor, says Esther, is not merely an individual tornado—or the bomb behind Franklin's throne. She's the symbol of all that high-hearted sisterhood who've taken life in their stride and refused to hide their light under any man-made bushel. Now, under the wizardry of the Arthur pen, out they troop—chin up, head high and armed for bear!

FIRST, PRIM CURLS belying her wicked wallop, one sees small Harriet Beecher Stowe, whose inflammatory "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was to strike the shackle from the Southern slave—as, years later, Frances Willard's Prohibition spirit, marching on, was to strike the cocktail from the national soul, padlock the bars, and be responsible for heaven only knows how many oceans of bathtub gin. Then Susan B. Anthony, arming Womanhood with the ballot, which they promptly turned into a sub-machine gun. And Carry Nation, smashing her daily dozen of saloon with the well-known ax.

Or those others, seemingly far removed in motive but identical in Giddup-Isadora Duncan and Lole Fuller, dancing their way to fame, tincturing our cold Puritan blood with the hot, sweet magic of rhythm. And, in our own day, that strangely vibrant mystic, Helen Keller, who sees those shining heights denied our earthly eyes.

VALKYRIES, EVERY ONE of them, riding, as well as rousing, the fury and the storm to serve their mission. No male, however militant or plain pouty ever buried such thunderbolts of purpose against our human apathy or quickened drab existence to such breathless ecstasy as did these plain and often burdened women with their indomitable will. And therein lies the story within the story of Esther Arthur's "Energists." For what they did, other women can do, have done. They were not rare or gifted natures, unusually endowed with beauty and wit for the great roles they were to play. Most were plain, few were talented, some were downright dumb. But they had within them that gift which may transfigure even the dulllest life and fill it with force and flame—they could dramatize themselves and their desires.

ALWAYS I SHALL remember the little brown wren of a woman who was once my neighbor. Uneducated, untraveled, plain as an old shoe, she had yet a distinction which made life glamorous and lent her tiny form the dignity of a conquering queen—she could make three school dresses in a day! Out of a life devoid of charm or significance, she had found a power and purpose for herself that lifted her above the common run. Let the Circes circle—and the Julietts jule—she could make three school dresses in a day. So what's holding you?

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By Bob Burns

YOU can look at any newstand today and get an idea of how our taste in literature differs. Somebody must like all those things of the publishers couldn't stay in business.

When I saw my Cousin Wafford readin' one of them wild magazines with pictures of drippin' daggers all over the front page, I said, "What do you want to read that trash for about people that never lived?" I says, "Why don't you read some good biographies of famous people? You would not only improve your mind that way but you'd be readin' about people that actually existed."

When I saw him two weeks later, he came runnin' up to me and said, "I took your advice about readin' biographies and I like 'em better than fiction." Then he said, "Wafford that said about Jesse James?"

Digestion as Fundamental Body Function

Supplies Energy From Food Sources Through Action of Secretions.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

WHEN the body is considered as a unit, we recognize four fundamental functions that it has to perform—digestion, respiration, metabolism and nervous activity.

It is an energy machine and food is its energy source and digestion supplies this. In order to form energy the food unites with oxygen, and respiration furnishes this. These combine to furnish the activities of growth and movement, which we call metabolism. And certainly our reason for existence lies in the activity of the nervous system.

All the other functions of the body are really secondary to these. Circulation of the blood simply carries the energy sources to the tissues. Excretion of waste products occurs in all engines. Reproduction of its kind is really a sort of metabolism.

Digestion of food is accomplished by the action of a great number of gland secretions which mix with the food in the stomach and intestines. These chemical secretions are called hormones and they act with the greatest speed and efficiency. From the saliva, which converts starch into sugar almost instantaneously, down through the pepsin of the stomach and the hormones from the pancreas, their action is incredibly thorough. Pepsin, for instance, can convert 3000 times its own weight of protein into peptones.

It is probable that the body developed these hormones in the course of time, and human beings used more and more of the world's products. We have in the pancreatic secretion alone hormones which will digest any kind of foodstuff on earth—tryptin for the protein or meats, steapsin for the fats and amylase for the starches.

The action of these juices occurs under certain circumstances. Saliva works only in an alkaline medium, and pepsin only in an acid medium, while the pancreatic digestion occurs again in the alkaline medium of the intestines. Some people have become very worried about these things and advise that such foods should be given that will not call out the acid flow in the stomach, or will not produce alkaline digestion side by side with acid digestion.

Now, even if such an arrangement could possibly be made, it would not be desirable. Nature has ways of accomplishing her purpose far better than any substitute we can make for her. The point is that the digestive glands are capable of digesting any form of food—animal, vegetable and a lot of minerals—and if they are not interfered with or monkeyed with too much they can do their work very well.

Even when a large part of the digestive secretion has been put out of commission, digestion goes on quite well. A man can lose a large part of his stomach, or his salivary glands, or even his pancreas, and nature compensates and allows digestion to go on just the same.

Hard on the Eyes Discourage in the youngster the habit of reading in bed. His school work is steady work for the eyes and the extra reading, perhaps in a careless position, is not good for his eyes.

ON BROADWAY x x By Walter Winchell

The New York Scene. The First Nights: Three new plays will break the 1938-39 tape this week—the first to brave the Hamlet Squad being a comedy-drama nicknamed "Come Across" and Mickey Rooney, as good for the heart as a full moon. . . . A film that comes with sugary advance report is "Hold That Co-Ed," a musical with John Barrymore, Jack Haley and Joan Davis. The Roxy gets it. . . . "You Can't Take It With You," debunking frugality, is at the Music Hall, owned by the Rockefeller, who are thereby making more money than they can take with them.

The Wireless: As the tennis matches are as exciting as Ted Husing's comments make them, they must be swell. . . . Allen Prescott is a suave confederer, who rates sponsorship attention. . . . Ditto a newcomer named Mary Burton, whose vocalizing is big-time. . . . The "Good News" bill (Thursday at 9) offers abundant talent and names—but not all of it jells. . . . The Nat'l Ass'n of Broadcasters reported that a Columbia University research survey found that 13 per cent of the broadcasts by news commentators are noticeably biased. About 5000 programs were examined. . . . Bias, in handling broadcasts of news flashes and bulletins were negligible, cropping up in 14 per cent of the programs examined, according to Alton Cook, radio historian. . . . Ben Bernie was pretty good as an "expert" on the "Information Please" program. . . . But up to the time Bernie was an expert on it, that show paid out only $20 weekly in wrongs. . . . This week it cost them $25.

The Front Page: The President praised the nation's press, except in Detroit, which he shoved hard. . . . The government believes in freedom of the press. Overseas they believe in freedom for only the government press agents. . . . Edith H. Walton in a book review said that New York cafe idlers resist satire—as the columns of Lucius Beebe "resist attempts at parody" . . . A local editor hired a researcher to dig up his family coat of arms, and his staff is willing to wager it'll turn out to be a quarter—with two heads. . . . Dorothy Dunbar Bromley's column in the Evepost makes sense. . . . Bennett Cerf in the same Sentinel did a guest column for the book critic and slapped at all the columnists in New York—except four. . . . He credits this department with creating the "guest-column," which it didn't. . . .

The Headliners: Franchot Tone told an interviewer: "Only failure (on the stage) can send me back to Hollywood. If I'm forced to return to the movies I'll never sign another long-term contract" . . . Mr. Tone forgets that failures don't get long-term contracts. . . . Clifford Odets growls: "Talented people go to Hollywood, and why shouldn't they? What does Broadway offer them?" . . . Well, Broadway offers the talented a chance to go to Hollywood to appear in something that usually isn't. . . . Ty Power said: "The greatest price one pays for fame is loneliness" . . . But worse than loneliness—it gives you the company of alleged friends. . . . Orson Welles, the actor-manager-director, remarked: "I think the country is a great place for drinking, growing things or generally making a fool of yourself" . . . And another good place for making a fool of yourself is in an interview.

The Bottle Baby When there is a bottle baby in the house, the formula upon which it thrives should be written out and kept in a place where each member of the family can find it. Mother's memory is a wonderful thing, but should an unfortunate accident occur or a sudden call away, baby is apt to become upset over food to which he is not accustomed.

Baby's Bottle All new nipples should be oiled for five minutes before using. Nipples should be selected that can be turned inside out to be cleaned. They are the only sanitary ones for baby.

A Substitute For Engraved Visiting Cards

Name Across Plain Card Enough With Wedding Present.

By Emily Post

DEAR MRS. POST: I have been visiting cards and cannot afford at this particular time to have any engraved. I want to send a wedding present to a bride who lives in another town and who I don't yet know. I am going to send it because the groom's father is my best friend, and a course I know the groom well. Is it good form to write "Miss Brown" by hand across a plain card, or when handwritten just "May Brown" be better? The bride being an utter stranger, why I am uncertain.

Answer: The bride will naturally take it for granted that you are a friend of the groom and probably of his family or you would not be sending her a present, and she asks him he will of course her who you are and that you are "Miss." So write across the card, "All best wishes"—or "Wishing you both every happiness"—in similar sentiment, and sign it "Emily Post." It is only when you write a letter to someone who has a way of finding out whether you are married or single that it is necessary to put "Miss" in parenthesis at the left of your signature. Do not forget that the title "Mrs." must never appear without a name! If you were a married woman you would of course use your husband's first name in the address, and put that in parenthesis at the left of your signature. This way: (Mrs. John) John May Brown. Or also May Brown. (Mrs. John Harold Brown).

Dear Mrs. Carr: I have been reading your column before. I am moved strongly to on the rocks in middle age? We have, that my husband is more at the we were both so busy at first, we now get more romance out of life and we are the same two who were people? Why do so many of us have our family and we have never ever felt before to be single again, as the song says?

We have, that my husband is more at the we were both so busy at first, we now get more romance out of life and we are the same two who were people? Why do so many of us have our family and we have never ever felt before to be single again, as the song says?

Dear Mrs. Carr: I have been reading your column before. I am moved strongly to on the rocks in middle age? We have, that my husband is more at the we were both so busy at first, we now get more romance out of life and we are the same two who were people? Why do so many of us have our family and we have never ever felt before to be single again, as the song says?

Hole In the Ground

By Dale Carnegie

HERE'S a story about a man who started from a hole in the ground and—
Did you ever hear of Joshua S. Coden? Well, I'll tell you about him. I promise you'll be interested. He was born near Baltimore, and very early made up his mind to get ahead in the world. He got a job as a reporter on a newspaper in Philadelphia. But that was not what he wanted. He came back to Baltimore and got work in a real estate office. He made some money but not enough. Then he decided upon a momentous change—to go to Oklahoma and jump into the oil business. Here was a new industry; money must be lurking around somewhere.

He didn't know any more about oil than a South Sea Islander does about frostbite, but he went. He decided to go into the refinery end, and set about it with tremendous energy.

But something else in Oklahoma had tremendous energy, too. One day a cyclone came ripping, roaring and thundering across the flatlands and picked up the cabin he lived in and set it down a hundred yards away. Nay! flung it down, for it was so knocked to pieces that it looked like a widow's woe.

He didn't even have a place to sleep, but he wasn't going to give up. Not Joshua S. Coden.

A cave had been dug in the yard to serve as a cyclone cellar, and he lived in that! He studied oil, talked oil, lived oil. He did not have much of the real article to run through the refinery, but that didn't stop him. His wells were four miles from the refinery, so he hired a second-hand tank wagon, filled it with "crude" and started his team of horses to get the oil to the refinery. The rickety old wagon leaked. He had to walk beside it and hold a bucket under the worst leak. The bucket filled, and he would leap up on the wagon and pour the oil back into the tank.

He had only 80 barrels his biggest month. But he kept on. He caulked the old wagon, and hired a man and a team to help him.

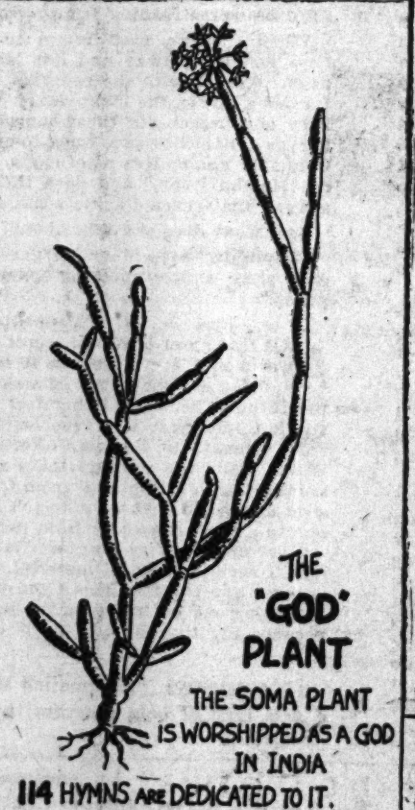

A spirit like that can't be downed. He began to make money. But he needed more to invest in his business. The only place he could get it was Wall street, New York. How would those mighty nabobs treat him?

This was to be the plea of his life. He must make it simple. He worked for days over his plan until he knew the answers to every conceivable question. Then he boiled the plan down to one single page of typewriting. When he met the directors of the great bank, he passed around copies of that one sheet of paper. They asked him questions. He answered convincingly and to the point. Exactly one hour and 45 minutes later he walked out with $120,000! Quite a come-up from a hole in the ground.

The Soma plant (Adelepis Acida) is one of the most powerful gods in India. To it are addressed 114 hymns in the sacred Rig Veda. It is grown and worshipped in the Punjab, and the milky white juice extracted from it is likewise worshipped. The place where it grows becomes a temple and a sanctuary, and priests adore it, pray to it and bring it offerings.

THAT BOYCE GIRL — A Romantic Serial — By R. H. DAVIS

Sally Accepts Neyland's Invitation to See His Apartment — Walter Finds Her There and Shows His Resentment.

LEAVING the theater with Gary Neylands, two hours later, Sally found that she didn't recall much of the picture. Troubled thoughts had come between her and the figures moving across the screen. Most troublesome of all was her feeling that Gary was assuming a too important place in her affairs. He made it all appear innocuous, made her suspicions seem contemptible, but she could not banish them.

Could not shut her eyes to the fact that Walter's future, her father's, her own, were being shaped by Gary Neylands.

"I'll drop by my apartment," he continued suavely, "and I'd like to have your opinion."

Sally felt confused. Everything Gary did and said showed his liking for her. But was it mere friendliness—hoping for no reward—or was it prelude to something else? Her lips tightened suddenly. If Gary expected more than she had to give, she might as well know it now. And so she nodded her agreement.

"I hear that girls find Jess quite irresistible," Gary laughed. "Sally was remembering the adoring face of that ravishing blond who had bought a car from Jeff. She sniffed."

"I find it hard to understand," she said coldly.

"I'm told that Carol Putnam is badly smitten with him," Gary continued. "But like you, I find it hard to understand."

Sally felt bewildered. She had known Carol Putnam all her life, and while they were not intimate friends, she had respect for Carol's intelligence. Carol's father had died recently, leaving her one of the richest girls in the state.

Ten minutes later they reached Gary's apartment and a Filipino boy admitted them. Gary dismissed him and led Sally through a short hall to the living room. A thick Turkish rug, almost blood-red, was spread over the floor; and modernistic furniture was scattered about.

Sally felt increasingly uneasy as she followed him through the apartment. Each room was beautifully decorated and furnished and everything looked quite new. Gary led her finally through French doors to a terrace and the lights of Avondale twinkled below them. They seated themselves and Gary smiled at her.

"What do you think of my little place, Sally?"

"It's very lovely," Sally replied. "I don't see why you should want to change it."

"Very lovely, perhaps," Gary said soberly. "But it is very lonely at times." He looked away from her, and there was a note of sadness in his voice.

"When I was a lad I dreamed of something like this. I didn't know that it could be so empty."

Sally wondered how many girls had occupied this terrace with him and had heard the same words. "You will get married some day," she said lightly. "And then it won't seem so lonely."

Gary looked at her and something in his eyes set her heart pounding.

"It isn't quite so simple as that, Sally. I had almost given up hopes of finding the right girl."

SALLY sighed her relief as he looked away from her. Had he interested himself in Walter as a means of earning her liking and gratitude, hoping that she would learn to like Walter less and Gary Neylands more?

Gary was silent, but it seemed to Sally that she knew the declaration forming in his mind. He would turn to her in a moment, declare his passion for her, attempt to take her in his arms. And she, tied to Walter by the bonds of love, must refuse to listen, must tell him frankly that she could never learn to care for him.

But this, she realized miserably, would bring to an end Walter's chance of a decent job, would bring to an end her chance of sending her father to that specialist!

Gary Neylands rose to his feet, smiled down at her.

"I know that you are anxious about your father, so I will take you home now," he smiled ruefully. "However, I won't pretend to enjoy seeing you leave."

Sally was filled with amazement and the feeling quickly gave way to one of shame. While she had been nursing those hateful suspicions, Gary had been worrying about her father.

Following him indoors, she vowed that never again would she distrust Gary Neylands. Never!

The telephone was jangling as they entered the living-room, and Sally watched the Filipino boy answer it.

"Yes, Mr. Neylands is here—" "Wait!" Gary said irritably, but he was too late, for the boy was replacing the receiver. Gary scowled at him. "Who is it?"

"Mr. Morris has come to keep his appointment," the boy replied.

"I had no appointment for tonight," Gary snapped.

Sally was watching the boy's face and saw him grow pale under Gary's furious glance.

"I made a mistake," the boy's voice trembled.

Gary turned to Sally as the boy shuffled from the room. He smiled apologetically.

"Walter is coming up to the apartment, Sally. Would you care to—disappear?"

"Disappear?" Sally repeated, puzzled. "But why should I?"

Gary's eyes moved over her face, then he shrugged.

"I was afraid Walter might not understand," he said easily.

"I have no secrets from Walter," Sally said quietly. "You see, we love and trust each other."

Meeting his steady gaze, Sally thought that she had never known anyone whose emotions were under such perfect control.

"How very nice," Gary said tonelessly.

A buzzer sounded and the Filipino boy went to answer it. He reappeared in a moment, with Walter Norris beside him.

"Hello, Gary! Am I late?" Walter said, when his eyes swung to Sally and his smile vanished.

"Sally! You here?" he whispered. Sally greeted him cheerfully and tried not to see the suspicion and resentment which showed in his eyes.

"Have a seat, Walter," Gary said genially.

"What are you doing here, Sally?" Walter asked bluntly.

OUR KILLED G TRAIN-AUTO RASH NEAR GRANITE CITY

Deaths Are Dr. Harry S. Hughes, His Cousin, Dr. Kenneth Hughes, Joseph A. Gabler and Mrs. Warren W. Brown.

AR HIT BY I. C. DIAMOND SPECIAL

Engineer Says Machine Was Going 65 Miles an Hour—Automatic Signal Working; House May Have Blocked View.

Three men and a woman were killed when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by an Illinois Central passenger train at Rock road grade crossing, two miles east of Granite City, at 6:45 a.m. this morning.

The dead are: Dr. Harry S. Hughes, 58 years old, physician residing on Kennerly road near Gravois road, Maplewood, with offices in the Wall Building. Dr. Kenneth F. Hughes, 29, 124 Forest Park avenue, cousin and professional associate of Dr. S. Hughes, sharing the latter's office. Joseph A. Gabler, 38, vice-president of Clarke & Gabler, Inc., physicians, residing at 22 Enfield road, Olivette. Mrs. Warren W. Brown, 26, 1124 North Twenty-second street, office assistant of Dr. Hughes.

Dr. H. S. Hughes, who specialized in treatment of the eye, and those accompanying him were accused to go to Litchfield, Ill., every Monday morning to keep office hours. The road on which the accident occurred is a new paved cut-between Granite City and Edwardsville, on the way to Litchfield. Dr. Hughes left his home at 5:40 o'clock, planning to pick up his usual companions.

Automatic Signal Working. The crossing, over three tracks, is protected by an automatic electric signal. Men who were working in the vicinity said to a reporter that the signal was in operation prior to the accident.

Speed of the automobile as it approached the crossing was estimated at 65 miles an hour by W. A. Hoff of Clinton, Ill., engineer of the train; the Diamond Special, but he asserted that he did not see the car until it was virtually on the track. Surroundings of the crossing are generally clear but there is a farmhouse nearby which might have prevented the driver from seeing the train momentarily.

The engineer declined to say at what speed the train was moving, except that it was going at the normal rate. At the railroad's offices normal speed for this section was said to be about 65 miles an hour. The train was on time.

Carried About 1500 Feet. Torn loose by the force of the impact, the motor of the automobile was left at the crossing, but the remainder of the machine, badly smashed, was carried about 1500 feet down the track by the locomotive. The train was traveling toward the southwest and the direction of the car at this point was northeast.

Mrs. Brown's body was flung out of the car. Apparently she had been riding on the right side of the front seat, while Dr. H. S. Hughes evidently was in the back seat. Investigations were that Gabler was driving.

The train was delayed while workmen with crowbars and blowpipes extricated the wreckage, which was caught in the wheels of the engine. Deputy Coroner Ferd Pieper of Granite City assisted in the removal and the bodies were taken to his undertaking establishment. Identification was made by Miss Stella Schweizer, 4285 W. Natural bridge avenue, sister of Mrs. Brown, secretary of Dr. H. S. Hughes, whose residence was in the vicinity of the residence of Dr. Hughes. It was fact that the older Dr. Hughes wore earphones.
